

BULLDOZERS FRONT AND CENTER

When the American Army moves it does things in the American way. At Pesto, Italy, 25 miles South of Naples the bulldozers moved in with the first waves of Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's invading Fifth Army. Here is shown one of them building a road right down to the landing beach. The War Bonds you buy are helping build that road that is leading to Berlin and Tokio.

Carry On Project To Develop White Corn Hybrids

Report of Survey of University of Illinois Shows Interesting Results

Information of considerable value to corn farmers has been revealed in a report on an agronomy project to develop white corn hybrids, carried on by the University of Illinois the past few years.

Results of numerous 1942 performance tests throughout the State of Illinois were very favorable to white hybrids, both in single cross and double cross tests.

When the yields of white single crosses were compared with those of yellow singles grown in a different test but in the same field at Mt. Morris, Illinois, it was found that the average yield for the whites was 88.1 bushels per acre, or 17.3 bushels higher than the average for the yellows.

Records kept of 30 white single crosses in a plot at Urbana revealed that 19 of these 30 single crosses yielded better than 100 bushels per acre, the whole test averaging 102.5 bushels.

In another test carried on at Mt. Morris with 19 early white double crosses and 59 yellow double crosses, the highest yielding double cross was a white which produced 112.1 bushels to the acre. The average white in this test was 101.9 bushels per acre as compared to 98.1 for the yellows.

Similarly, tests were conducted at Alhambra and Bluffs, Illinois. At Alhambra where a 72-entry test was made, six out of the ten highest yielding hybrids were white, with the average yield of whites 10 bushels higher than the average of the yellows. Although there were three times as many yellow entries as white in the Bluffs test, the white hybrids averaged 149.5 bushels as compared with 132.1 bushels per acre for the yellows.

Although white hybrids did not come on the market for a number of years after yellow hybrids, they are now getting in stride in the general corn picture, with very promising results.

Visits in City

Tuesday evening A/C Randall Bigsby, former resident here, stopped for a few moments in the city while enroute from his air training center in Texas to Omaha where Mrs. Bigsby is making her home for the duration. Cadet Bigsby is completing his training work and expects in a short time to receive his wings and commission in the air service. Mr. Bigsby resided here for some time and operated the funeral home now conducted by Lawrence Caldwell.

While his time was short here he was able to meet a few of the old time friends.

Charged as War Criminal

London, Nov. 10. (UP)—Richard K. Law, minister of state in the foreign office, said today that Britain has asked the Italian government to remove Gen. Mario Roatta from the provisional cabinet as a suspected war criminal.

The case of Gen. Vittorio Ambrosio, another cabinet member, still was under consideration, Law said. Both generals have been accused of war crimes in Yugoslavia.

Asked if the generals could be sent to Yugoslavia in accordance with the Moscow conference announced that war criminals would be tried in the country where the crimes were committed, Law said it was a matter for the united nations commission to decide.

Boy Scout Troop 367 Meets

Boy Scout Troop 367 met last night. Nine Boy Scouts, Lester Thimman, the scoutmaster, and Clifford Snyder, the assistant scoutmaster, were present. We had roll call, took up Scout dues and then played ping-pong. After a few games of ping-pong a few of the scouts went out to sleigh ride and the rest went down to Mauzy's drug store to buy Clifford Snyder, the assistant scoutmaster, a farewell present. They decided on a military brush set. Mr. Mauzy then treated all of the scouts to a Root Beer. We then went back to the church and joined in the farewell party for the Snyder family.

Chinese Capture Town

Chungking, Nov. 10. (UP)—Chinese troops have recaptured the town of Nanshein, 20 miles southwest of the Japanese base at Hwajung which was taken by the enemy at the beginning of the new counter China offensive last week, a communique said today. The communique acknowledged, however, that other Japanese forces in the central area continued to advance into the Chinese "rice bowl" section around Tung King Lake.

Hears From Sons

W. O. Troop, well known Nehawka farmer, was in the city today for a few hours attending to some business matters and was pleased to have letters from two of his sons, Earl Troop, now in the Canal Zone, and Cpl. Thomas Young, Troop from Fort Dix, New Jersey.

Earl Troop has been a dredge line operator in the Canal Zone for the past several years and has become quite acclimated to the tropical conditions of that part of the world. He is expecting to go to Costa Rica, if his machine is transferred to that part of Central America.

Cpl. Troop likes his station at Fort Dix very much and likes that section of the east as it is not far from Philadelphia and New York City.

Death of Former Resident

Plattsmouth friends will regret to learn of the death of Mrs. Elliott C. Cobb, at Sioux City, Iowa, the former Juliet Atwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Atwood, early day residents of Plattsmouth.

The death of Mrs. Cobb followed a two weeks illness. She was having lunch with her husband, Dr. Elliott C. Cobb, when stricken with a brain hemorrhage and rushed to the hospital. She was never really conscious after Sunday. A cousin, Mrs. Hestain of Omaha, has been with the Cobb family the greater part of the time when able to leave Mr. Hestain, who is also ill.

Mrs. Cobb is survived by the husband, Dr. Elliott C. Cobb; two sons, Dr. Elliott Cobb, Jr., an interne at St. Luke's hospital at Chicago; Lt. James J. Cobb, graduated this year from West Point, and now stationed in the south. There is also a sister, Mrs. Charles H. Gardner, (Catherine Atwood), and a brother, Calvin P. Atwood, Liberty, Missouri.

Episcopal funeral services were held Wednesday for Mrs. Cobb, burial being at Sioux City.

Flowers of the coffee tree have a little known fragrance all their own that is now being sought after by perfume makers. Studies by the Puerto Rico agricultural experiment station have shown that coffee growers can remove a good percentage of coffee blossoms for perfume oil extraction without disturbing the regular output of coffee in the bean.

Urge Mills Continue Operating

Washington, Nov. 10. (UP)—Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production Board asked today that steel mills keep operating continuously, even during the Christmas holiday, because of the critical need for steel plates.

Other war plants, he said, should maintain full work schedules on all holidays except the Christmas week end.

Probe Cost of Living

Washington, Nov. 10. (UP)—President Roosevelt wants to know what the cost of living really is before turning to labor demands to scrap the little steel wage stabilization formula.

He expects to find the answer in the report of a committee of five war labor board members appointed to review the government's cost of living index, which was used as a basis of the Little Steel yardstick. The next two months probably will reveal whether the administration will modify or reaffirm its existing wage policy.

The cost of living committee scheduled a conference with labor Secretary Frances Perkins today to begin its investigation.

Here From West Coast

Miss Janet Westover, eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. P. Westover, is here from the west coast for a visit with the parents and old friends. Miss Westover came from Los Angeles with Mrs. C. J. Klein and daughter, Billy Beth, they driving through with the ashes of Mr. Klein for interment at Nebraska City, the old family home. Mr. Klein died suddenly on the west coast where the family have been making their home recently. Miss Westover has been engaged as a secretary at the Lear Aviation plant at Hollywood, California.

More Vegetables

Washington, Nov. 10. (UP)—The agricultural department predicted today that civilian supplies of fresh vegetables would be greater this winter than last. Price Administrator Chester Bowles said their price would be lower.

In a survey of Florida, Texas and California truck farm prospects, the department said, production of snap beans, carrots, celery, egg plant, green peas and spinach would be increased. Green peppers, tomatoes and cucumbers will be fewer. Total winter vegetable production will be five to ten percent greater than last year, it predicted.

Colds Aren't Trivial

This is the season of colds and other respiratory infections. In one Nebraska county which is typical of many, 25 per cent of the school absences during the month were caused by colds.

The "cold situation" is not only typical of school children but more people are afflicted with colds than any other single disease. It is said that 4,000,000 colds occur annually in the United States. This means many millions of work days lost, and money spent on a wide variety of so-called "cold cures." It is estimated that colds cost the American public between two and three billion dollars a year. Stop and think how important this amount of money would be in the war effort. Keep well today is ammunition. It is the responsibility of each person to keep well. What can you do to help?

The direct cause of colds is an active virus which irritates the mucous membrane linings of the nose and throat. This virus is easily spread by sneezing, coughing, kissing, and by using common eating and drinking utensils. At no time in the history of this country has the problem of health and sanitation been so important.

Sending children to school who have the symptoms of a cold which, by the way, are also the symptoms of most of our other communicable diseases, spreads infection, causes epidemics and lowers the health status of family and of school.

Have adequate food and sleep; practice good sanitation; keep children home who have the beginning of what seems to be a cold; keep away from people with colds; send for your family physician; protect your family and your neighbor's family.

Home—after having done his duty and played his part in the bitterest, cruellest fight of all time.

And you?

Will you be able to welcome him back with nothing but sheer joy and thankfulness in your heart?

Or will the sight of him remind you, for the rest of your life, that even though your job was unutterably easier than his, you still didn't do it—you didn't quite measure up?

That would be a miserable thing to have happen to you. It would be a miserable feeling to carry through the years.

So don't take any chances. Don't just buy your share of War Bonds. Do that—and then do more. And do it today.
