Class Hears Discussion On Insurance

As Mr. Price was unable to be at the Current Affairs Class Monday, Mr. J. I. Kocian spoke on insurance. Mr. Kocian spoke of many different kinds of insurance. He gave an interesting talk on what insurance is for. Insurance came into existence about 1800 and it was used by sea captains.

Around 1866 there was an insurance known as fire insurance. It was first used on warehouses, etc. This insurance later became more popular as better homes were built.

Life insurance was not so popular yet only to the extent, when someone would die there would be a society chip in some money to bury him. This did not work out long, because there were always arguments in the society.

Later on, there came into existence lodge meetings where the people would discuss it and appoint bodyguards for the funerals.

The first successful policy was called the Presbyterian Minister Fund. It went into effect June 18, 1853. It was on an 8 per cent basis and ran for 12 months. The man to be insured had to have sixteen men sign his policy.

Mr. Kocian told us that today a medical examination is required to get insurance and that one out of every 70 dies of accidental death. He later mentioned which country has the most people insured. They are as follows: The United States is first with 50 per cent of the people insured for $1,000, Canada is second, and England is third.

In the last war, 1915 to 1918, if a man was killed accidentally, the insurance would pay double the amount. This is now called double indemnity.

He then mentioned the latest type of insurance which is handled by the government and is known as Social Security. This government insurance on people runs in 5-year periods.

In the last part of his speech he mentioned that the highest insurance policy ever known is $260,000,000 for one person.

Mr. Felton explained that the prices established are maximums at which small independent stores are permitted to sell. Any other groups of stores having lower ceilings under present regulations must continue to observe their present ceilings and will not be allowed to use the top prices listed today.

"This new list of prices," Mr. Felton said, "is a protection alike to the housewife and to the great majority of retail merchants, who, under difficult wartime conditions are conforming to government price control." Defining the responsibilities of the retailers Mr. Felton pointed out that no poultry, including turkeys, may be offered for sale on a drawn or eviscerated basis, except when purchased by the retailer already drawn or eviscerated. A retailer may draw or eviscerate poultry only after the sale has been made and no charge may be made for that service.
