Senator Van Nuys Dies

Washington, Jan. 25. —(UP)—Sen. Frederick Van Nuys, D., Ind., chairman of the important Senate Judiciary committee and a member of the senate since 1932, died suddenly at his country home in Vienna, Virginia early today.

Van Nuys was sixty-nine. His office said he had not been ill and that he had scheduled a hearing today of the judiciary sub-committee investigating the liquor industry—an inquiry which he sponsored.

Van Nuys first won a senate seat in 1932 in the Roosevelt landslide. In 1938 he was re-elected after a bitter fight in which he failed at first as a victim of the "purge" aimed at opponents of President Roosevelt's supreme court reform. Van Nuys threatened to run as an independent but finally was re-nominated by acclamation at the democratic state party convention.

In addition to being chairman of the judiciary committee, he was a member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, the Indian Affairs committee, and the committee on expenditure in the executive department.

Wolf Hunt West Of City Results In Bag Of Nine

Coyotes Will Provide $54 for the USO Fund in This Locality—Another One Sunday

The wolf hunts that were started by Sheriff Joe Mrasek in order to rid this locality of these pests of the farms and countryside, are proving very successful and that held Sunday netted nine of the varmints that were sold for $54 to be applied to the USO funds of the county.

The hunt covered that area north from the Mynard road to the Cullom road on the Platte bottom, a very large number of the hunters being out and the drive was well organized and carried out. It is thought a few may have escaped the encirclement of the hunters but very few.

One of the thrills of the hunt as reported was that experienced by William P. O'Donnell who was attacked by one of the fighting coyotes but made short work of the infuriated animal.

The only accident reported was that of Jess Wing, of this city, who had one pellet or short lodge in the right hand and one in the hip. The injuries were not dangerous, however.

The hunt for next Sunday is expected to be in the vicinity of Murray and the hunters are to meet here at the Chevrolet garage at 12:30 to take part in the hunt.

Present County Treasurer Will Seek Republican Nomination for the Election for Vacancy

The first filing for public office at the 1944 election in Cass county was made this morning at the office of County Clerk George R. Sayles, when County Treasurer Ruth Patton, filed for the republican nomination to fill the vacancy in the office, due to the resignation of John E. Turner.

Miss Patton was selected by the board of county commissioners to fill the vacancy until the first general election, that will be this fall. The present treasurer has a long and very efficient record of service in the office, as she was deputy treasurer of Cass county from 1927 until named to the chief position in that office, a very well deserved recognition of her services to the county.

Miss Patton took over the office in December, 1942, and has had a splendid record in her handling of the business of this office, one of the largest in any department of the county government, requiring an untiring work on the part of the treasurer and the staff. The business has been greater in the past year than for many years past and has been carried on at a high standard despite the changes in personnel that has been necessary in this period, and is now at a very high point of efficiency.

As a part of her training Miss Patton was a deputy in the office of the register of deeds prior to entering the treasurer's office.

Rotarians Enjoy Unusual Program On Tuesday

Emil Weyrich Is Guest and Discusses the Collection and Cutting of Quartz and Stones

The members of the Rotary club, Tuesday, had an unusual treat afforded them in the program that was presented with Emil J. Weyrich as the speaker, he presenting a most interesting story of one of his chief hobbies, the collection of quartz and semi-precious stones, of which he has a large collection. One of the chief features of the work of Mr. Weyrich is that the stones are secured in the rough, are cut and dressed at his own workshop in this city, a place where he whittles many worthwhile hours away in preparing the stones for mounting. His collection embraces cuttings of agate, a stone possessing a great deal of silica, topaz and amethyst, brought from Brazil, that had been purchased by Mr. Weyrich in the rough and dressed and mounted. The collection of stones have been very beautifully dressed and made a very attractive feature of the lecture. Mr. Weyrich told of the quartz and stones, where they are found, of the steps of handling from the rough stone to the cut and polished article, ready for the collection. He had pictures of his workshop and its many machines, all of these being made by himself to care for the work. This was a real revelation to most of the members who had not realized the scope of the collection or the processes that are necessary to complete the dressing of the stones.

Bob Galloway, senior, and Harold Pickering, Junior, members of the club for the month of January gave their farewells and their impressions of Rotary.

E. J. Riehey served as the chairman of the program in the absence of George Jaeger.
