Sunday Brings Climax In Boy Scout Week

Boy Scout Sunday Services and Radio Court of Honor are Very Largely Attended

Sunday brought the climax of Boy Scout week in this community with the observance of Boy Scout Sunday in the morning, and in the evening the radio court of honor and the conferring of merits and advancement for the scouts of the area and including the Plattsmouth troops.

Each member of the two troops attended the church of their choice in the morning and in each of the churches there was recognition made of the occasion.

The Christian church was filled to its capacity on Sunday evening by Scouts, their parents and friends, to participate in the impressive ceremony that was made a part of the union service.

The musical program was opened by the prelude by the pianist and followed by the singing of the doxology.

The Tenderfoot investiture was conducted by troop No. 367, the Christian church troop of which Lester Thimgan is the scoutmaster, the boys carrying out the lighting of the candles.

The invocation was by Rev. J. W. Faenzler and the scripture and prayer by Rev. T. Porter Bennett, pastor of the First Methodist church.

The sermon of the evening was given by Rev. J. W. Faenzler, long an active Scout leader, who based his short address on the eight Boy Scouts of the bible.

The honor roll of the Boy Scouts who are now in service from Plattsmouth was read by Carl J. Schneider, chairman of the Cass county district, and as the names were called, relatives of the scouts present were given a letter to be sent the service men. There were in the neighborhood of one hundred former scouts in the armed forces.

The advancements were given by Chairman E. H. Wescott, chairman of the advancement committee and included the following: Troop 366, First class scouts—Billy Edwards and Billy Potter; second class scouts—Charles Newton, Billy Potter, Richard Duxbury, James Edwards; Star scout—Billy Lee Edwards; Merit lads, Billy Edwards, Bookbinding, angling; Billy Potter, handicraft, Troop 367: Life scout—Bobby Spangler. The awards were presented by scoutmasters, L. A. Caldwell, and Lester Thimgan.

The list of the scouts in service is at the office of the gas company and any person knowing any service man omitted are requested to notify Dwight Edwards or E. H. Wescott, so that the names may be added.

One of the interesting features of the Scout day was the fact that Rev. T. Porter Bennett, is the senior scout executive of the city, he having his silver beaver for thirty years of scout work.

The advancements numbered 14 in Troop 367, and two in Troop 366. The regular drive for Scout funds will be made this week by the committee in charge.

Pvt. Frederick Hobbs, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maro Harry Hobbs, Plattsmouth, Neb., has been promoted to corporal and is now a driver with the Sixth Army truck company at an advanced base.

He got a couple of shots at the Japs recently while serving with an amphibian truck company unloading ships at a base which had been in American hands just a few days.

"We carried loaded guns with us at all times," he said, "until all the stray Japs had been rounded up. They were so hungry they'd come out of the jungle at night and try to steal food from our mess hall. Guard duty was not uninteresting."

"Once a Jap took a shot at us from the shore as we were coming in from a ship. My sergeant grabbed a gun and just cut the Jap in two."

The amphibians or "Ducks" he said are very valuable vehicles and have saved many manhours.

"They just go down into the water, chug out to a boat, load up, and then climb out of the water and deliver the goods. Sometimes we took bombs direct from ship to plane."

Honor Local Soldier

Plattsmouth friends of Grant Roberts, U. S. C. G. Mounted Beach Patrol, who is well known for his ability in horsemanship, will be interested in the following account taken from the Foley, Alabama, newspaper:

"Grant Roberts of the Coast Guard afforded a real treat for those attending the U.S.O. in Foley, Tuesday night, February 1st, when he showed his horse 'Thunderbolt'."

"Thunderbolt's" career is a very interesting one in that he came from a ranch in Oklahoma and nothing is known of his ancestry. He was later bought for the army cavalry, but condemned because he was an "outlaw." Just how he happened to join the Coast Guard we don't know, but his trainer, Roberts, has proved that he is a brilliant animal.

A few of the many things "Thunderbolt" has learned to do since Roberts met him in New Orleans last August, is to add, subtract, divide, answer questions by nodding his head and play dead.

The U.S.O. committee feels greatly indebted to Roberts for affording this unusual evening of amusement."

This is one of several newspaper accounts which have been printed concerning Grant and his horse. The New Orleans item published pictures of them taken last fall while stationed in that city.

The camp at Foley is being closed and the government sold the horses last week "Thunderbolt" was for sale. Roberts planned to buy him and when the crowd at the sale realized that he was bidding for his horse, they stopped the sale, took up a collection and bought the horse, which they presented to Grant as a gift.

The new camp to which they will go is in the vicinity of Miami, Florida.
