Lloyd Sudduth, AM 3/c, left Friday evening for Houma, La., after enjoying a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Sudduth.

Set Farm Wage

Cass county farmers can use 150 harvest hands, July 2 - 20, 18 single-farm hands, 12 married hands. In addition to those now available, according to weekly farm labor reports submitted Saturday, July 1. At a public hearing held Friday night, at Weeping Water, the Cass County Farm Wage board reported the prevailing wages for harvest labor to be 50¢ per hour. The same wage is reported for haying. Field labor in connection with harvesting the canning crop will be 50¢ per hour. Detasseling seed corn 45¢ to 50¢ per hour. Common farm labor 16¢ per hour. Although corn husking is several weeks away those attending the hearing thought, that 10¢ per bushel would be in line for corn husking. Charges for custom combining was discussed, and prices of $2.50 to $4.00 per acre would be fair figures. All prices to be based on average working conditions. It is expected that there will be some deviations both above and below the figures given.

Want Prisoner Camp

Progress is being made in locating a prisoner of war branch camp at Weeping Water, but it is impossible to predict just how soon final details can be completed. Willard H. Waldo, Cass County Farm Agent says "If a branch camp is established it will help materially in relieving the shortage of agricultural labor."

Tuesday night's rain storm caused more damage than any flood in this vicinity since 1913. Rasmus Lauritzen went to the city water plant to close it against the storm and was marooned there all night. The motors at the plant were under water. Mr. Lauritzen waded out the next morning, with the water up to his hips. Frank Garrison and his sister, Nellie, who live near the south bank of the creek, had to wade out during the night—not a very pleasant experience as the water was swirling and deep. A wash-out near

Picture Attracts Many

Many Plattsmouth people have been attracted to the Paramount Theatre in Omaha this week because of the fact of the showing of "The Story of Dr. Wassell," a great motion picture that carries with it a great deal of local color. Benny Hopkins local sailor, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Hopkins, shares a large part of the picture with the noted Dr. Wassell.

The authors have taken some liberties with the actual facts in the case, but it is a strong drama and Benny has a big part in the show. The character of Benny Hopkins is taken by Dennis O'Keefe, film star.

The fate of Benny Hopkins has been one that has interested all of the residents of the community when he was first reported missing from the USSS Marblehead, later to be discovered a prisoner of war in a Jap camp in Java, where the injured sailor, suffering from severe burns had been landed.

Benny, wounded so severely that he could not stand the removal to other points, was left when other patients were evacuated not able to make the trip and around him and Dr. Wassell is woven the great story of service, love and sacrifice.

The picture has attracted much attention to Benny and his case and to Plattsmouth, altho in the pictured story the locale has been laid in Arkansas.

The parents and relatives here were guests at Omaha of the preview of the picture. Mrs. Hopkins, the mother, was in Hollywood when the picture was shot and enjoyed conversations with the film authorities and to give personal view points of the life of Benny.

Wabash delayed trains for a while, and there was a wash-out on the Y. west of town. Considerable damage was done at the Riverside gardens.

Milton and Talma Nelson are enjoying their leave from the Navy at the same time. They were in Weeping Water last week. It was Talma's first visit here for about three years.

Marine Praises Boys on Farms

"Doing More Than We Are," Tells Younger Brother Staying at Home.

"You fellows here at home on the farms are doing a lot more for the war effort than most of us who are in camps and schools."

The speaker was Pvt. Warren Rikkl.

Pvt. Rikkl

li, who is visiting the home folks in Cass county, Nebraska, after completing his first year in the marine corps and he was talking to his younger brother, "Dutch" Rikkl, who is still home helping their father, Leo R. Rikkl, run the farm.

There's no doubt but what you boys on the farms work harder than we do in the service, and you won't get any glory out of what you are doing, but believe me, you are doing one of the most important war jobs there is to be done, by helping to produce food.

Incidentally, Warren's furlough allowed him to come home just in time to get into the middle of one of those farm jobs he was talking about—haying. Having the extra hand when the alfalfa was ready to put up meant a lot, too, and his father and brother agreed. And Mr. Rikkl is sure that most of the men his age and older on farms today are working a lot harder than they should. He wrenched his back in the first day of haying work, and had to take it easy while the boys carried the heavy end of the load.

The Rikkl family hasn't been slacking on the food production. A shipment of more than 40 fat steers Monday, the second they have made recently, cleaned up their lots of cattle, they probably won't put in any more until fall. But they are producing more pigs this spring than they did a year ago and feel that it is the right thing to do.

One reason they hold that opinion is that most of their neighbors are rather disgusted with the hog business and are cutting down their pig numbers. They knew what the situation was locally, and the pig survey results announced recently indicate that it must be much the same everywhere.

Second with corn late, and help promising to be scarce, they count on their hogs to use up any soft corn they may have, and also to go out and husk at least part of the crop themselves. "Dutch" husked 4,000 bushels of corn a year ago and he has no objection to being relieved of that chore.

Corn in the territory with which they are familiar is two weeks to a months behind normal schedule, the Rikkl's said. None of their corn has been cultivated yet, though they killed a lot of weeds by harrowing it when it was small. Actual cultivation awaited the completion of putting up the first cutting of hay—a big one, that went into the stack without a drop of rain touching it. Some corn there is just being replanted. That is the part of the crop that Mr. Rikkl figured to be a full month behind.

Small grain prospects are poor in that section. Good fields of wheat are rare, and oats are late, with only a field here and there that shows a good stand or is heading.—Omaha Stockman Journal.

Obituary of Mrs. Louis W. Goesch

Alice Lorine (Durham) Goesch was born at Imperial, Nebraska, January 12, 1890 and passed away Friday morning, June 23, at the Bryan Memorial hospital in Lincoln. She came to Avoca with her parents when four years of age. She received her education at the Avoca Public school and grew to womanhood here.

On February 1, 1906 she was united in marriage to Louis W. Goesch. To this union three children were born—Wilbur, Roy, Hazel Florine and Courtney Lee. They established a home at Farnam, Nebraska, where they lived until 1934, when they moved to Pinedale, Wyo. Alice, as was widely known in that community, endeared herself to her new friends and business associates, by her kind manner and loving heart, always ready to lend a helping hand, even through these last few years when poor health was a great trial. Since February she has been caring for her invalid mother and brother. At an early age she was confirmed in the Evangelical church and was a member of St. Andrews of the Pines at Pinedale, Wyoming. She was also a member of the Degree of Honor lodge, Pinedale. Alice leaves to mourn, her husband of Pinedale, Wyoming, Spl. 3/c

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Avoca cemetery.

Interment will be in the Avoca cemetery.

Surviving are her husband, Louis W. Goesch, and three children, Wilbur, Roy and Hazel.

Surprise Party

Wednesday June 21, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Carneal was a very happy occasion when Mrs. Glen Carneal honored her daughter, Martha Frances, with a surprise party on her six birthday.

Martha Frances was invited to the home of a neighbor for dinner, being Mr. and Mrs. Ray Abel and children. When Martha returned home in the afternoon, she stepped into the dining room where twenty of her friends began singing "Happy Birthday." The centerpiece on the table was a beautiful decorated birthday cake with six candles.

The afternoon was spent in playing games.

At the close of the afternoon Martha Frances unwrapped her gifts. She received many useful gifts. The mother of the honored guests served delicious refreshments. They all departed for home wishing her many more happy birthdays.

Those present were Barbara Ann Sullivan, Jimmie Kraeger, Jimmie Grosshans, Janice and Nancy Lancaster, Ross and Linda Abel, Beverly Ann Mesinger, Ella Mary Neilson, JoAnne, Marie and Bill Grant, Wetekamp, Jo Ann Warthen, Joy and Lyle Hild, Dennis and Bonnie Mesinger, Marianne Wetekamp, Tommy and Sammy Corney and guest of honor Martha Frances Carneal. Guest of honor Grandmother, Mrs. Wm. S. Wetekamp and mothers who were Mrs. Raymond Lancaster, Mrs. Ray Abel, Mrs. Vernon Hild, Mrs. Gomer Warther and Mrs. Glen Carneal.

Honor Friends

Honoring Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Ramsey and daughter Carol, who left Friday for Chicago, the families of Herold Apartments Unit D held an informal party Thursday evening.

Group singing and a social time was enjoyed, following which refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Mrs. Ross had this feature in charge and was ably assisted by Misses Phyllis and Shirley Speck and Jean Holmquist.

Invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey and Carol, the guests of honor; Dr. H. G. McClusky, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Becker, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Elliott; Shirley and Phyllis Speck, Miss Gerda Peterson, Mr. and Mr. U. G. Holmquist and Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon T. To the People of this Community

Display of the flag and bond buying go hand in hand. You render only lip service when you hoist the national banner today and then do nothing to keep it a symbol of freedom.

In the invasion zones the men in uniform know the full price of the American flag in blood and tears. To them it means their homes, their families and their very bodies. For the flag, they die.

What better day than Flag Day for you at home, safe and comfortable, far away from the screaming battlefields, to make a genuine sacrifice in buying extra War Bonds, more than you ever bought before? Doff your hat to the flag and to the men who fight for it by going without even the suggestion of a luxury until the war is won, until our invading forces have torn into shreds the twin symbols of hatred and treachery, the Rising Sun and the Swastika.

Buy extra Bonds today, not for the profit that is in them, but for the practical patriotism they represent. That's the real way to observe Flag Day.
