Prohibition Turned Down By Nebraska

Decisive Vote by the People of the State on the Proposed Dry Law

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 8. —(UP)—The proposed law to return prohibition to Nebraska went down to a whacking defeat as voters bettered pre-election estimates by rolling up a three-to-one majority against it.

Anti-prohibition appeared general throughout the state.

Returns from 1,399 of the state's 2,026 precincts gave:

Yes, 86,851; No, 258,636.

Distrust of the effectiveness of dry laws, resentment against the proposal's presentation during wartime, and apprehension over new or increased taxes to replace liquor revenues appeared to be responsible for the large plurality.

The vote capped a bitter scrap.

John B. Quinn, manager of the committee of men and women against prohibition, had warned of an invading hoard of outstate bootleggers, operating under syndicate protection, if the state went dry.

Harold D. Wilson, head of Nebraska's Allied Dry Forces, renounced an anti-prohibition petition signed by members of the 134th Infantry, and requested the war department institute court martial charges against its commanding officer, Col. Butler Miltonberger.

Both Wilson and former Gov. Keith Neville, chairman of the anti-prohibition committee, expressed satisfaction at the outcome.

Wilson claimed dry campaign activities were intended to be educational and pledged support of existing regulatory laws.

"The people of Nebraska seldom make mistakes in their mass decisions," Neville jubilated. "It is beyond the realm of possibility they would make the same mistake twice."

JUDGE FAUQUET SPEAKER

At the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club on Tuesday the members had the pleasure of a most interesting talk by Judge Paul E. Fauquet on the operation of the office of the county judge. The talk was most interesting, showing the various steps that are taken in the handling of estates in the court and the care and watchfulness that is necessary.

Judge Fauquet also touched on the matter of child delinquency as many cases of this nature are brought before the county court.

The program chairman was James G. Mauzy, who presented the guest speaker. There were present two guests from the armed forces, Major Grant Howard, U. S. Air Corps, who is home from the European theatre of war and Lt. (jg) E. W. Burdick, United States navy, who is enjoying a short leave here with his family before going into a new assignment.

Defeat Gas Plan

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 8. —(UP)—Nebraskans turned thumbs down on the proposition that the state constitution be amended to limit gasoline tax revenue for the exclusive use of highway construction, improvement, and maintenance.

A total of 341,111 votes were tallied on the issue in 1,570 precincts as compared with the 379,641 counted in the decision that Cornhuskers be allowed to continue enjoying alcoholic refreshment. The yes vote on the gasoline tax amendment was 139,794. The prohibition yes vote was 94,351.

The gas tax campaign appeared to have little of the bitterness which marked the struggle of The Drys vs. The Wets. Defeat of the amendment will continue the routing of one cent of every five, collected from taxes on gasoline, to state assistance.

Judge Dunbar Is Elected By Very Large Vote

Present District Judge Finds Large Support in all Counties of the District

A great deal of interest has been attached to the race for judge of the district court in which Judge Thomas E. Dunbar, of Nebraska City, the appointee to the bench by Governor Dwight Griswold, was a candidate for the election and had as his opponent John L. Mattox, Nebraska City attorney.

The candidates have been visiting the various counties of the district and Judge Dunbar has found a warm support among the members of the bar of the district.

The total vote in Cass, Otoe and Sarpy county showed Dunbar, 12,644 and Mattox, 4,008 and the several counties voted as follows:

Cass county—Dunbar, 4,217, Mattox, 1,520.

Otoe county—Dunbar, 5,308, Mattox, 1,529.

Sarpy county—Dunbar, 3,119, Mattox, 1,959.

George Olson Goes Back To Work As Usual

Late Candidate for Governor on the Job at Martins as Usual This Morning

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 8. —(UP)—George W. Olson went back to his bus boy job at the Martin-Nebraska bomber plant today, soundly defeated in his bid for the democratic governorship of Nebraska.

The stubby, gray-haired, Danish-born Olson, who based his non-appearance campaign on the assertion that he could square a circle, trailed the democratic state ticket in losing to Gov. Dwight Griswold, republican, who won a third term.

The gubernatorial vote from 1390 of the state's 2,026 precincts gave: Griswold, 264,100; Olson, 84,723.

Griswold's plurality was expected to rise with the receipt of each new batch of votes from outlying precincts.

Olson, who campaigned by deluging Omaha newspaper men with mathematical formulae attempting to prove his circle-squaring stunt, ceased watching returns at 11 o'clock last night and went to his hotel room at Plattsmouth, 20 miles from Omaha, and went to bed.

"I'm not conceding anything," Olson said. "Election returns do not interest me tonight any more than they did on April 11 in the primary returns." (He won the nomination by 274 votes in an apathetic primary to climax 32 years of campaigning for a half dozen offices.)

He said he wanted to get his "regular night's rest" so that he could resume his work "helping build B-29 bombers."

All incumbent republican congressmen were returned to office.

Returns from 1570 of the state's 2,026 precincts gave:

President—Dewey, R., 236,371; Roosevelt, D., 169,139.

Governor—Griswold, R., 293,224; Olson, D., 93,831.

Lt. Gov.: Roy W. Johnson, R., 244,413; Edward A. Dosek, D., 99,490.

Auditor—Ray C. Johnson, D., 232,195; L. E. Chadderdon, D., 107,322.

Treasurer—Carl G. Swanson, R., 236,145; Wayne J. Davies, D., 112,044.

Returns from 1701 of the state's 2,026 precincts gave:

President—Dewey 261,973; Roosevelt, 188,794.

Roosevelt Relected President By Overwhelming Majority

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

VICE PRESIDENT-ELECT TRUMAN

Latest returns continued to increase the margin by which President Roosevelt rode to victory in his quest for a fourth term.

There was even a chance that final counts would leave Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, defeated Republican candidate, with fewer than the 10 states and 82 electoral votes which Wendell L. Willkie captured four years ago.

For, with Ohio and Michigan still a tossup, the Roosevelt win added up like this late Wednesday:

For Mr. Roosevelt: 35 states with 413 electoral votes. For Mr. Dewey: 13 states with 118 votes.

The popular vote, with returns from 115,732 of the nation's 130,810 precincts, was:

Roosevelt ----- 23,267,746
Dewey ----- 20,460,037

Total ----- 42,394,430

Governor Dewey had held the President to the narrowest margin of popular votes since the Wilson-Hughes race in 1916. The difference in their popular vote, 2,807,714, compared with 591,385 in the 1916 election.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 8. —(UP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey captured Nebraska's six electoral votes and Gov. Dwight Griswold was overwhelmingly reelected to a third term in leading the entire state republican ticket to victory in Tuesday's election.

The proposed prohibition law, placed on the ballot by initiative petition, was soundly defeated. Only a handful of counties of the state's 93 supported the proposition that would make Nebraska bone dry.

The gasoline tax amendment to the constitution that would segregate all gas and motor vehicle taxes for the purpose of constructing, repairing, and maintaining public highways and "for no other purpose whatsoever," also was defeated.

Carl T. Curtis retained his seat by better than a two-to-one vote over Charles A. Chappell in the First District, while A. L. Miller was returned an easy winner in the big fourth over Democrat Tom Lanigan and petition candidate, William B. Furman.

Carl Stefan, longtime representative from the Third District, whittled out a two-to-one victory over two opponents, George Hally, D., and W. E. Brarda, petition candidate.

Howard Buffett

Howard Buffett, surprise winner in the Second District two years ago, won over Mrs. Mabel Gillespie despite heavy support given her by the Political Action committee.

Mrs. Gillespie had counted on a heavy vote in normally democratic Douglas county (Omaha). Instead, incumbent Buffett carried the county.

Gov. Griswold polled the largest vote in the state. This was attributed to the weakness of his opposition and his own popularity gained from long activity on the state political scene.

His opponent, George W. Olson, Plattsmouth, made no campaign speeches nor public appearances, and confined his campaign to deluging Omaha newspapermen with mathematical formulae attempting to prove his statement that he could square a circle.

Gov. Dewey led the president of the state's electoral votes from the first return. The state long had been written off by the democrats as a loss and his victory was not unexpected.

Chief Justice Robert G. Simmons, running for reelection on the non-political ticket, was returned by a three-to-one vote over Paul Manhart.
