School Lunch Programs

Yearly more communities are organizing to give their children a noontime meal which meets at least one-third of the feed needs for the day.

Nutrition specialists say that one year of right feeding in the life of a child is more important than 10 years after 40.

One of the best investments a community can make, the school lunch pays dividends now and for the future in better school work, fewer absences from school, and healthier, happier children.

We should like to urge, therefore, that parents and teachers consider carefully the 4-H School Lunch programs which should be organized through joint participation with the community School Lunch program sponsored by the War Food Administration which offers financial aid to communities in providing school lunches.

If you desire further information about organizing a school lunch program, contact the County Agent.

Ed Wagener and Henry Amgwert were in Friend Tuesday for Mr. Wagener's furniture.

Quite a number of the farmers are finishing up the corn picking this week in spite of the so-called labor shortage.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kaslein were Lincoln visitors Thursday.

AN APPRECIATION

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the people of Cass County, for the splendid vote given me in the recent election. It is gratifying to know that your efforts are appreciated. I shall try to repay you by rendering to the people of my District the best service of which I am capable.

Freshening Cows for Maximum Production

Reports show where good conditions such as suitable barns, ample feed supplies including good quality hay and silage are maintained, cows freshening during the fall or early months will produce more milk during the year than those calving in the spring. Farmers engaged in general farming in addition to milking cows usually have more time to give to care and management of their cows and to calf raising in winter. Also there is a considerable advantage in having the dry period come during the heat of late summer when weather conditions and flies are unfavorable for milk production. Another advantage is that fall freshening brings the highest production at the time when market prices usually are highest.

Women Cornhuskers

- 1. Plan to do each day a few extra jobs so that they do not all pile up.
2. Be sure that all members of the family are helping with the home-making jobs.
3. When crawling out of bed in the morning, straighten the lower sheet and fold back the covers to air until bed-time.
4. If the breakfast dishes are left draining, they will be dry by noon and may be put on the table directly from the draining pan.
5. Wash dishes twice a day.
6. You need something hot at noon. If you plan not to build a fire at noon, the extra pot of coffee made at breakfast time may be kept hot in a thermos jug.
7. Quick meals, one-dish meals, and oven meals help to save time and energy.

Tractor Club Leader Training

Some tractor club leader from Cass County will have an opportunity to attend a tractor school at the Agricultural College his winter. The training course will include tractor lubrication, servicing, tune-up, ignition, carburetion, timing, trouble shooting, and training how to present such material to 4-H club members.

Any man or older boy interested in leading a tractor club this coming year is urged to notify the County Extension office in Weeping Water, at once.

New Circular

Extension Circular 788, Home Made Manure Loader prepared by L. F. Larsen and R. M. Roper has just been received. It includes several diagrams and pictures.

Those planning on butchering beef on the farm this winter will be interested in Circular 248 which is also just off the press.

Other timely circulars available free for the asking are:

- Ex. Circular 840—"Corn Production Requirements for 1941-42-43" and
Ex. Cir. 246—"Swine Rations."

Medic Makeshift

A doctor's hands must be clean. So when T/3 Charles J. Burlie, Anthony, Kans., left, and Capt. John J. Oddey, Lawrence, Mass., Army surgeon, found no facilities on Leyte, P. I., they set up this contraption which supplies flow of treated water by means of foot pedals, at emergency hospital converted from industrial training school.

New Navy Ace

Comdr. David McCampbell, above, shot down nine Jap fighter planes in 95 minutes of combat during the Battle of the Philippines. The feat brings his score to 30, topping all other Navy flyers and tying him for second place with land based flyers in the Pacific.

Homage

Sinks Nips' Ships

Reporting on the victory of his U. S. Seventh Fleet over the Japanese fleet in Surigao Strait during the three-pronged battle of the Philippines, Rear Adm. Jesse Barret Oldendorf, above, declared that three enemy battleships, five cruisers and six to eight destroyers came within range of his guns and "I couldn't find any evidence that a single one got away."

Now Try Two

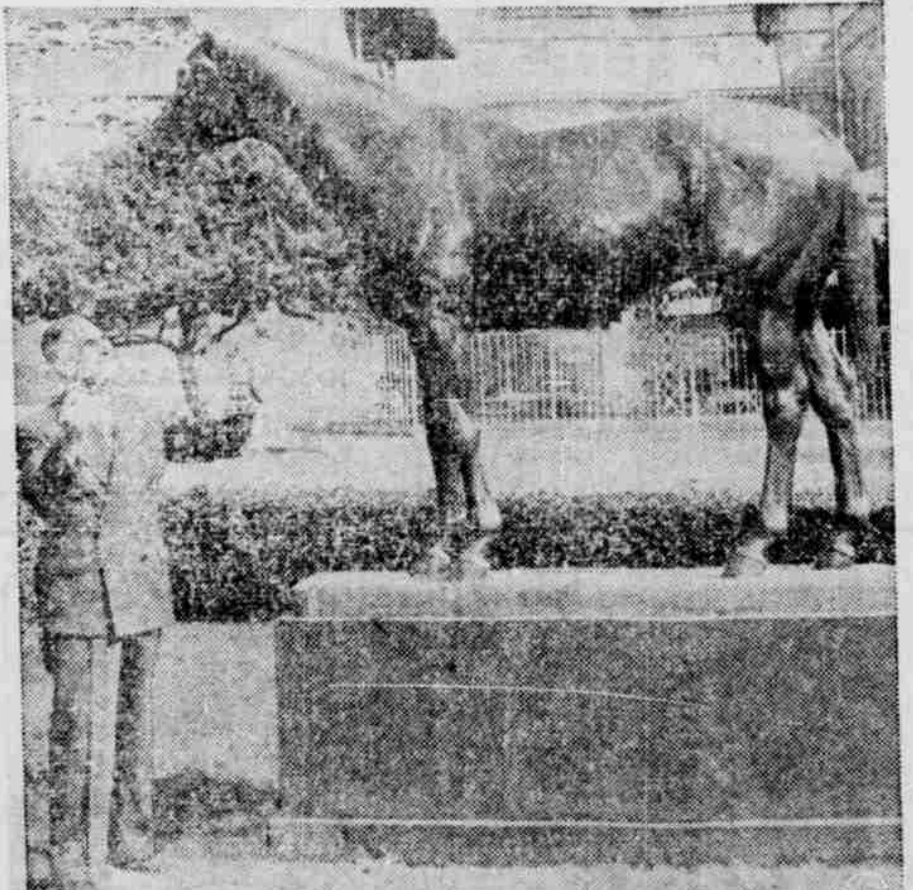

(U. S. Navy Photo from NEA) Ensign Raymond G. Baldwin, above, 26-year-old Navy flyer of Devon, Conn., dropped a single bomb from his plane during a raid on Ryukyu Islands in the Pacific to wreak double destruction on the Japs—it sent two Nip subs to the bottom.

FRONTLINE MILKSHAKES

Rockford, Ill., (UP)—Foxhollow milkshakes are a specialty of Cpl. Robert Denton, with the 5th Army in Italy, who has made himself an electric malted milk mixer. In a recent letter Denton, a 34th "Red Bill" division artilleryman, said he made the beater with a "bit of bale wire," constructed a little gear for it, and then attached the whole gadget to a truck generator. There isn't any ice cream to work with, Denton wrote, but with cocoa, canned milk, powdered eggs, nutmeg and malted milk tablets available at the kitchen truck, he can mix milkshakes like he and his buddies used to get back home "at the corner drug store."

Seabiscuit Sweats It Out

Public relations counsel Fred A. Purner enthrals at prospect of more real champions in flesh at Santa Anita with resumption of racing Dec. 30. It's only a statue, but Seabiscuit was only horse in park for two years, during which time plant was first a Japanese internment camp and then Ordnance Training Center.
