Lewis Hollenbeck attended the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Lorilla Shellhorn, at Louisville on Friday afternoon. He was accompanied by his daughter Darlene of Lincoln and nephew, Donald. Elmwood fire department was called to Wabash Wednesday afternoon, but they arrived too late to save the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gerberling. The family was away but neighbors and friends saved some of their goods. Insurance covered part of the value. This removed a land mark as this house was the one near which Wabash was built. It was then the property of the Manion family, and the town was called Manion for a short time. It was soon changed because it was too nearly like Manley. Some of the Manion family now live at Nelson, Nebraska.

The Royal Neighbors and some friends were entertained on Wednesday evening by the Modern Woodmen. They report an enjoyable time during the social evening, the installation service, and at the square dance which followed.

O. work, but as her husband was changing camps she decided to come back to Lincoln. She says they had a very nice Christmas dinner in a southern private home.

The January Eastern Star Kensington met with Mrs. C. H. Totman, who entertained the guests in a pleasant way.

Selective Service Board Very Busy

The Cass County Selective service board is very busy at this time in handling the reclassification of the men registered with the board, to meet the demands for more manpower by the armed service.

Another of the matters that is handled by the board is that of passing on the applications of men that desire to transfer from one job to another. Permission to do this must be secured from the draft board where the men have registered.

Allied Agents Are Executed

LONDON, Jan. 24. —(AP)— Berlin reported today that 18 American and British "agents" were executed after their capture in Slovakia, where they allegedly were engaged in sabotage behind the German lines.

Broadcast Nazi dispatches said the American and British were caught in civilian clothing, admitted their identity and purpose in Slovakia, were court martialed and shot.

The DNB News Agency said an American named Green and a Briton named Semmer were leaders of the group. They were captured "in the rear of German battle areas on Slovak territory," the agency said. British official quarters would not confirm that such a group was operating in Slovakia. They had no knowledge of the executions, indicating that Berlin had not informed the allies that the men were being tried.
