Committee Votes Down Murray Bill

WASHINGTON, (U.P.)—A senate commerce sub-committee has voted unanimously against the Murray Bill for establishment of a Missouri Valley Authority. Chairman John H. Overton, D. Louisiana, said the sub-committee recommendation against passage of the measure proposed by Senator James E. Murray, D. Louisiana, probably would be given to the full commerce committee next Monday.

He said the committee first voted to strike out of the measure all provisions pertaining to flood control, navigation and related matters, but later decided to rule against the bill as a whole.

had moved up to Gaja hill, overlooking Yonabaru city, after bypassing its airfield and pushing 1,400 yards from captured Kuzazu village in the north.

The two new divisions thrown into the growing battle on southern Okinawa were the 77th infantry and the first Marine division. The 77th was the fourth army division brought into the campaign against an estimated 30,000 Japanese troops dug in around the capital city of Naha.

Despite the increased ground pressure and the rattle air and pressure and the relentless air and naval bombardment the Japanese resisted strongly along the rest of the five-mile line west of Yonabaru.

Hamburg Falls Without Fight to The Allies

Germans Evacuate the Nations Largest Seaport to Flee to Shelter of Norway

PARIS. (U.P.)—The Germans surrendered Hamburg, the reich's largest port and second city, without a fight today and began a mass flight by sea from the northern redoubt, presumably for a last stand in Norway.

Even as the British moved into Hamburg, the city's radio station broadcast a decree from Fuehrer Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz's new government declaring Prague, kingpin bastion in the southeastern redoubt a hospital city—a hint that it, too, would capitulate without a fight.

German resistance everywhere on continental Europe crumbled almost to the vanishing point following the mass surrender of northern Italy and western Austria with their nazi garrisons of nearly 1,000,000 troops yesterday.

Almost 100,000 captives were rounded up by the American 82nd airborne divisions fighting under Montgomery's banner. The Americans and British at most points were merely organizing the German movement and disarming the enemy.

"Whether you say armistice or unconditional surrender does not now matter," German officials told the captors. "Our resistance has ceased. If any one wanted to fight on now, he couldn't."

German troops were surrendering by the tens of thousands and even greater mass surrenders were in sight, the dispatch said. Among the momentous developments in the last 12 hours were:

1—British Second army troops entered Hamburg after it was declared an open city by the Doenitz government.

2—The Second army's Sixth airborne division linked up with Russian tanks in the Baltic port of Wismar, clearing the entire Baltic coast of Germany and encircling tens—perhaps hundreds—of thousands of nazi troops.

3—RAF pilots report the Germans had begun the wholesale evacuation of Schleswig-Holstein, northernmost province of Germany proper, at dawn. Behind the province's ports, the RAF hammered the biggest traffic jam of the war.

4—British Mosquito bombers attacked Kiel, one of the evacuation ports and possibly the new headquarters of the Doenitz government, four times during the night. More than 50 two-ton bombs were dropped.

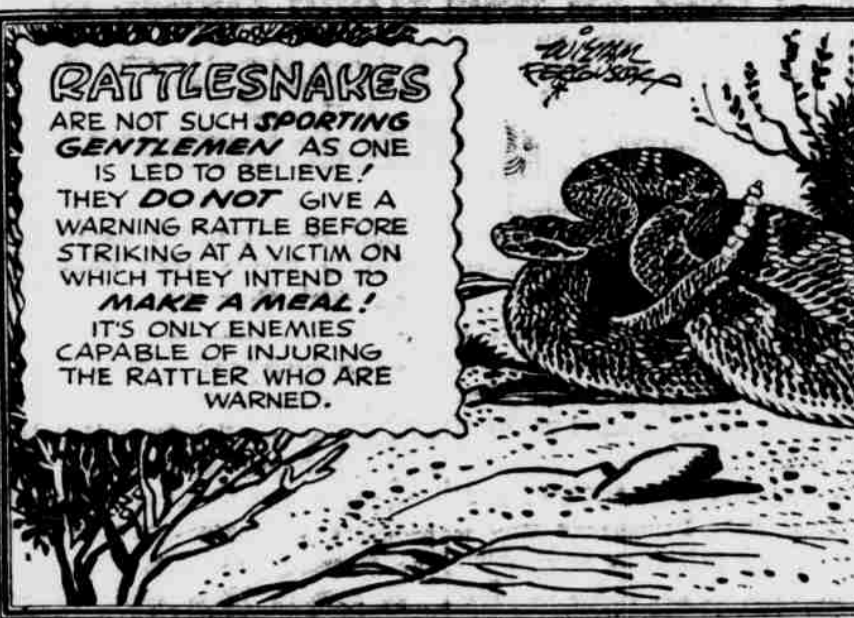

5—Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commander of the Sixth army group in southern Germany, said the German national redoubt was crumbling and final, conclusive victory "may come at any moment."

6—American Third army forces drove across the Inn river and captured Braunau, birthplace of Adolf Hitler 30 miles north of Salzburg. Another column pushed 10 miles southwest of Braunau to within 39 miles of Berchtesgaden.

Air Forces in New Blows to Japanese Bases

Hit Bases of Suicide Planes to Back Up Drives of Americans in Okinawa.

Guam, Mat 3 (U.P.)—American Superfortresses renewed the offensive against Kyushu's suicide air bases today in support of the campaign on southern Okinawa where two more U. S. divisions have been thrown into the battle.

Armored forces of the seventh division paced the five division drive on southern Okinawa by cracking through the eastern end of the Japanese line to reach within one mile of Yonabaru. The new attack on the network of air bases on Kyushu, southern most of the Japanese home islands, was made by a "sizeable" force of B-29's from bases in the Marianas islands.

In announcing the raid, the 20th air force at Washington said only that six important installations were hit. Previous targets on Kyushu, 350 miles north of Okinawa, have been the staging bases for Japanese suicide attacks on American forces in the Okinawa area.

The Superfortress raid came while the seventh division was closing in on Yonabaru, Okinawa's big east coast port. Its capture would open the way for a steady flow of supplies by ship through Nakagusuku bay.

Master Sergeant Bob Wurl Home

Master Sergeant Robert Wurl, who has spent the past seventeen months in far off Greenland, arrived home Wednesday for a visit with his father, E. A. Wurl, who has anxiously been awaiting his coming for the past weeks.

Master Sgt. Wurl is in the communications section of the United States army, and has been among the small group of Americans that have kept up this important piece of work at the Greenland base, one of the links between this country and war torn Europe.

Through the long months the Americans had largely to provide their own entertainment and relaxations and Bob became an expert at bridge, one of the chief means of entertainment.

Bob has been in the armed service for the past three years and was at Westover Field, Mass., for over a year and where he had his special training in communications, before being sent abroad.

Support Salvage Campaign Urged

C. B. McElroy, of the War Production Board, stationed at Omaha, was in the city today to look after some details of the campaign to aid the tin and paper salvage.

Mr. McElroy was checking with the local groups that are aiding in the campaigns and was pleased with the program that is being carried on, the Ad club committee on the paper drive, the thorough effort of the Boy Scouts all through the campaign to gather in the paper and the city co-operation in hauling the paper to the storage places.

Mr. McElroy stresses the need of tin in the war effort as this is one thing that the Allies lack in their war effort, Japan holding the larger part of the world's supply of tin in the captured East Indies.
