Gerald Blunt In Dutch East Indies

Gerald Blunt, of this city, who has been serving as a cook in one of the army units in the Pacific for the past year, is now in the Dutch East Indies, he writes home. The climate in the Netherlands is quite warm and uncomfortable to one used to the more temperate zones. He states the people are black and lots of them.

More than 2,000,000 firms in the United States employ less than 100 workers and 50,000 companies hire more than that number.

John Zog Dies At Farm Home

Sheriff Joe Mrasek and Deputy Sheriff Emery Doody were called Saturday night to the Murdock community where it was reported that the body of John Zog, 37, had been found dead at the farm home.

It was found that Mr. Zog, who was in poor health for some time had been discovered lying lifeless near the barn of the place.

It was decided that an inquest would not be held.

Mr. Zog was a member of one of the well known families of this section of Cass county.

He is survived by the widow, the mother, Mrs. Anna Zog and six brothers and four sisters.

Nebraska Meet Likes Program For The Missouri

Program of the Army Engineers for the Development of the Missouri River Endorsed.

Lincoln, Neb., (U.P.)—Directors of the Nebraska Reclamation Association, meeting in day long session yesterday, approved the Missouri River Valley development program planned by army engineers and the national reclamation bureau, but urged that home rule powers in the area be guarded as much as possible.

Board members plan to tour the 13 present and proposed irrigation projects in the state early next month. The tour will be followed by a two-day meeting in September when representatives of all projects will be invited to present their problems to the association.

The directors noted with satisfaction that the engineers and the national bureau plan close cooperation with various localities in the valley, but foresaw possible trouble when operations begin. Means must be reached, they agreed, to coordinate all activities and to avoid conflicting with state laws and established irrigation rights.

R. E. Campbell, Lincoln, was named to the board as representative of the first congressional district. The post formerly was held by Dr. G. E. Condra, dean of conservation and survey at the University of Nebraska. Condra will continue to serve on the board.

Former Senator Tom C. Osborne, Bayard, also was appointed to the board to fill the vacancy left by the death of Harvey Sams, Scottsbluff.

Points to be covered in the June tour include the North Platte river area, Whitney, Mirage flats, Republican river, Republican valley, Loup river asis, Sutherland, Mid-state, Lower Platte Valley, Ak-sar-ben and Tri-county.

Other association directors are Edwin N. Van Horne, Omaha, president; Harry D. Strunk, McCook, vice-president; Nat Tolman, Hay Springs; V. H. Halligan, North Platte; C. E. Alter, Alma; E. P. Ryan, Grand Island; Paul C. Larsen, St. Paul; C. Peterson, Lincoln; Louis S. Clarke, Omaha, and John Riddell, York.

Lend-Lease to Be Slashed to Great Britain

Russian Aid Also Clipped as The United States Turns War Effort on Japan.

Washington, May 14 (U.P.)—More big lend-lease cuts, including a slash of nearly 5 per cent in U. S. war aid to Britain, were in prospect today following curtailment of the bulk of this country's $300,000,000 a month shipments to Russia.

At the same time some top U. S. officials were said on good authority to believe the drastic cut in lend-lease to the Soviet Union might figure in relaxing the stalemate of the Polish situation.

Through the Russian curtailment assertedly was based solely on the fact that Russia is no longer a fighting ally, it was said to demonstrate a willingness on this country's part to be "tough". This, it was felt, might further Stalin that the U. S. will not yield to Russian wishes in regard to Poland.

Russia is anxious to win recognition for the Soviet-sponsored Polish government now installed in Warsaw, while British and the U. S. are insisting that the government must first be recognized in line with the Yalta agreement.

It was pointed out that while lend lease is strictly a war operation, Russia is anxious to receive postwar credits from this country to enable her to buy American machinery with which to rebuild Russian industry. This country's readiness to cut lend-lease shipments promptly and without hesitation was seen as a hint to Russia to meet other Allied nations half-way or face difficulty with the postwar financial problem.

President Truman is expected to make an announcement on Disclosure of the sharp cut in lend-lease to Russia was made Saturday by Foreign Economic Administrator Leo T. Crowley. He said "new shipments to Europe" had been halted except those destined for countries still fighting Japan or those where lend-lease would aid redeployment of American armed forces.

Congressman To Seek Clearing Of Succession

Would Make Clear the Succession to the Presidency in Case of Death or Disqualified

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Rep. A. S. Mike Monroney, D., Okla., said today that he intends to do something to end the confusion in present laws governing succession to the presidency.

"There are too many blind spots in the present system," he said in an interview. "There are too many possible contingencies that neither the constitution nor congress have provided for. And now is the time for us to get busy—not when the contingencies arise."

He said he will introduce a bill shortly to set up a 12-man commission to study the entire problem and make recommendations to congress.

"The commission would be composed of 12 of the foremost constitutional authorities and jurists in the country," he said. "They could go over the whole presidential setup—his election, his succession—and tell us what we should do."

Former Postmaster - General James A. Farley advanced the same idea last week. In a speech before the Hazelton (Pa.) Chamber of Commerce, he urged the establishment of such a commission and sharply criticized the present method of presidential succession.

The law stipulates that the secretary of state shall become president if both the duly-elected president and vice-president die. This never has happened in American history. As the law stands, if President Truman should die now, Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., would become president. Under this system, Farley said, a vice-president who has succeeded to the presidency can arbitrarily name his own successor or merely by appointing him secretary of state.

Monroney said that additional difficulties would arise immediately if a secretary of state ever became president. Jurists disagree, he said, as to whether or not the cabinet officer next in line would be the new president's own secretary or the secretary of the treasury in the dead vice-president's cabinet.

The bill would authorize the commission to study the general problem and in particular to determine:

1. Who should become president upon the death of the president and vice-president. In answer

Churchill to Lead Britain To War Finish

In Victory Speech the Premier Wants to Stay on Job Until Finish and World Safe

LONDON (U.P.)—Tired but defiant, Prime Minister Churchill indicated in his victory speech last night that he intends to lead Britain "till the whole task is done and the whole world is safe and clean."

Churchill warned the people of Britain that they still face a fight to beat Japan and preserve democracy in Europe.

In what observers interpreted as a warning that Britain would not tolerate strong-arm politics, Churchill said "there would be little use in punishing Hitlerites if totalitarian or police governments were to take the place of the German invaders."

Churchill also took the opportunity to let loose five years' pent-up anger on Eire's Prime Minister Eamon de Valera, scoring him for the "shame" he had brought Ireland by his neutrality policy. Churchill described De Valera's policy as "so much at variance with the temper and instinct of thousands of southern Irishmen who hastened to the battlefield to prove their ancient valor."

Indicating his desire to stick to his post, Churchill said: "I wish I could tell you tonight that all our toils and troubles were over. Then indeed I could end my five years' service happily, and if you thought you had had enough of me and that I ought to be put out to grass, I assure you I would take it with the best of grace.

"But, on the contrary, I must warn you that there is still a lot to do."

Threaded throughout his speech were references to his advancing age and the tremendous load he has carried in five years at 10
