Asks Government Operate Struck Chemical Plant

ST. LOUIS, —Monsanto Chemical company late Wednesday invited the federal government to take over operation of its strike bound Monsanto, Ill., plant to insure production of vital war needed chemicals for the army and navy. In a telegram to President Truman, the company said it was unable to keep the plant operating in the face of "flagrant union irresponsibility."

The big chemical plant at Monsanto, Ill., has been closed down since last Thursday night when approximately 45 pipe fitters walked out in a jurisdictional dispute with the iron workers and immediately established a picket line around the company's gates. Approximately 1,200 workers were thrown out of employment.

In the telegram to President Truman, the company said it had signed annual contracts with the chemical workers union of the A. F. of L. since 1937 calling for no strikes and no lockouts.

"The company has scrupulously observed the spirit as well as the letter of these contracts," the telegram said. "Despite these signed agreements, however, there have been in the past 21 months 15 work stoppages at this plant, every one of which has been a breach of contract."

Picketers have refused entry to the maintenance men and will not even allow the plant management to enter the premises, the president was told. No demands have been made on the company in the present dispute, the telegram said.

"Instead," the president was told, "it is purely a dispute within union ranks which only the union can settle and only action by the union itself can bring the men back to work. This flagrant disregard by the union for the terms of their contract and for the demands of the war program leaves us but one alternative."

"We respectfully request you to take over this plant in the name of the United States government in order to bring about the immediate resumption of work on materials which the armed services are calling on us to furnish."

The telegram admitted that "this is no easy decision or request for us to make. We prefer to manage and operate our own plants in keeping with the traditional spirit of private enterprise but we know the urgent need for our products and are determined that they shall be made available, even at the cost of loss of control of our plant."

PIONEER OF THE '20s

HOUSTON, Tex. —(U.P.)—Women in unusual industry aren't entirely an outgrowth of this war. The "Twenty Years Ago" column of a Houston paper reported that Mrs. Alma Burdette presided over a barbershop chair and had more customers than the male barbers.

PAYS FINE IN DIMES

PERU, IND., —(U.P.)—William Teel, ordered by the circuit court to pay $50 attorney fees, appeared at the clerk's office with three $1 bills and two glass jars, one containing $40 in dimes and the other $7 in pennies. Deputies spent most of a morning counting the money—and Teel called back for his glass jars.

Marine Trails Jap Runner to Destroy Nip Command Post

OKINAWA (Delayed) (U.P.)—Lt. George W. Adams, marine pilot believes he did something new in the game of war when in his spotter plane he trailed a Japanese runner two miles and then signaled his artillery battalion to blow up the athlete's goal, an enemy command post.

Lieutenant Adams said he saw the trunk-clad Japanese emerge from a front-line area and run furiously to the command post. "There was nothing I could do except follow him along," he said.

"He knew I was right over his head, but that didn't stop him. I knew he was a messenger because he was carrying a rolled-up bundle of papers in his right hand, like a relay baton."

"Our artillery had disrupted ordinary means of communication, so I hung around to see what would happen. About 10 minutes later the same runner appeared and ran all the way

"That was enough for me. I spotted the command post for the artillery and five minutes later it was just a lot of smoke and rubble. Then I hung around for the last event."

"Sure enough, the Jap athlete hustled back with another message. His chest was out and I could see him sneering at me as he ran along. Every now and then, he'd put on an extra spurt of speed to show me he could keep going all day."

"Finally he got within sight of what had been the command post. I could see him slow down a little, but he had been ordered to the headquarters, and that was where he was going. When he got there, he looked at the ruins a long time, scratched his head and looked at me, disgusted and puzzled.

"He made up his mind at last and threw his message into the wreckage. Then he walked back!"
