Season Starts For Picking 1945 All-Americans

NEW YORK, Oct. 22—(UP)—The annual autumnal madness of selecting All-American football teams was building up today to fever pitch and, as usual, it made about as much sense as arguing with your wife.

A conversational conflict with the better half, as a matter of fact would have better chances. There's just a remote possibility that you might be right, but in the matter of All-Americans it's a very doubtful possibility that anybody could name the 11 best football players in these United States.

Take the backfield, for instance. Your chances are better there, because you have four spots to fill against two guards, tackles and ends and only one center. So just step up, brother, and fill those four spots from among the following:

Pope Urges Women to Take Part in Public Life; Talk Heard by World

ROME, (UP)—Women of all the world were urged by Pope Pius XII yesterday to participate in public life, to cast their votes for "peace" and to protect the home against the inroads of totalitarianism and capitalism.

His admonitions were directed to 13,000,000 Italian Catholic women who soon will vote for the first time but his address was broadcast worldwide. It also coincided with the first exercise of suffrage by the women of France Sunday.

The Pontiff opened the second half of his 40-minute address which dealt with women's duties in political life with the invocation:

"Your day is here Catholic women and girls. Public life needs you."

He said the real intelligent woman can not understand that politics mean "domination by one class over others, ambitious striving for ever more extensive economic and national empire."

"She knows that such a policy paves the way to hidden or open civil war, to the ever growing accumulation of armaments and to the constant danger of war."

"She knows from experience that, in any event, this policy is harmful to the family which must pay for it at a high price in goods and blood."

"Accordingly no wise woman favors a policy of class struggle or war. Her vote is a vote for peace."

Asking if women's welfare can be served by a regime dominated by capitalism, he delineated this system's ills of excessive concentration in cities, the increase in big industries and increasing unemployment.

"To restore as far as possible the honor of the woman and mother's place in the home—that is the watchword one hears now from many quarters like a cry of alarm, as if the world were a-wakening terrified by the fruits of material and scientific progress of which it before was so proud."

He said it was the duty of every right-thinking woman to take part in public life and not leave it to others who would destroy social and domestic life.

"This practical end, this concrete activity, this effective collaboration in the work of man in social and public spheres in no way affects the nature of woman's normal tasks."
