Phone 45 to give us news about your boy.

JERRY WHITE—

Sgt. Jerry White arrived on the west coast last Thursday, immediately called his wife, the former Shirley Mason, from Tacoma, Washington, to tell her about his plans.

Jerry was overseas since last March. He went from this country to Hawaii and then directly to Okinawa where he has been stationed since that time. In the anti-aircraft battalion he saw some battle activity, although he did not arrive on the island until most of the work of taking it from the enemy was completed.

After his induction into the army three years ago, he took anti-aircraft training at Fort Sheridan, Illinois, Camp Hulen, Texas, and at El Paso, Texas. He shipped out from Washington.

He will go to Fort Logan Colorado, for his discharge before coming home.

LESTER STEPP—

T-4 Lester Stepp received his discharge last Saturday at Fort Leavenworth and arrived in Plattsmouth early Sunday morning. He arrived in New York on January 4.

Lester went into the army in April, 1944, took his basic training at Fort Jackson, South Carolina, and went immediately overseas without further training. Landing in Scotland, he went to Liverpool, England, for a while before going into Europe. He was in France, Belgium, Holland and Germany and took part in the Rhine crossing.

He was attached with the British army for some time when his group of engineers followed closely behind the advancing armies to repair damaged bridges and roads. Later he was with our own army engineers.

With a total of sixteen months overseas, he was in Germany for more than a year.

Prior to his service with the army he did construction work the Kansas City Bridge company, working on bridges and docks. He says that he plans to take a long rest before resuming civilian activities.

Technical Sergeant is now the proper rank of Paul Dieter since his promotion from staff sergeant, according to information received here from the headquarters of the public relations section of the United States forces in Austria. He is a member of the 242nd Infantry, 42nd "Rainbow" Division.

Graduating from high school in the class of 1941, where he was a member of the baseball team, Paul worked on his father's farm and later for the Omaha Engineering Company, for which he operated a pile-driver in the building of dikes on the Missouri river.

Sergeant Dieter entered the army in May, 1944, and received his infantry training at Camp Robinson, Arkansas. He was assigned overseas in November, 1944, with the 42nd "Rainbow" division and participated in its 450 mile drive from the Harde Mountains in France to the border of Austria. He fought in the battle of Haguenau, France, when the division halted the last major offensive of the Germans. He aided in the capture of Nuremberg and Munich and in the liberation of the inmates of the Dachau concentration camp.

Sergeant Dieter's regiment, the 242nd, is now occupying a large area of Austria in the Alps south of Salzburg as part of General Mark W. Clark's United States forces in Austria.

He went into service in May, 1941, and spent twenty-eight months overseas with duty on Guadalcanal, New Britain, the Philippines, Korea and many of the small islands in the Pacific area. He took part in three major battles and was in the landings made on Guadalcanal and the Philippines.

He had quite an experience on Luzon when he took two tanks carrying seven men each and captured 275 Japs who were holding the strategic point. Despite these experiences he came out of battle with no wounds and it is hoped that he will gain relief from his illness through a course of treatment at the hospital.

Ernest entered the service in June, 1941, but did not go overseas until June, 1945, when he was sent to Luzon. Burton entered the service in June, 1942, with a commission as second lieutenant from the R. O. T. C. at the university and was sent immediately to Wright Field in Dayton, Ohio. He has been stationed there during his entire length of service as a project engineer for army air corps.

He perfected tow lines for gliders, the field of activity in which he specialized and he and two other men also perfected an emergency plane rescue device for use in B-29 rescue work. This is another tow-line device and can be used effectively for peacetime aviation as well as in warfare.

Captain and Mrs. Rishel will make their home in Lincoln for the next few months while he finishes his work at the university.

RICHARD HATT—

Sgt. Richard Hatt arrived last week in Tacoma, Washington, and is now in Seattle with his wife and other members of his family. He is the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hatt, and they were notified through a telephone call from Dick that his discharge was given him at Seattle.

Dick has been in the service since 1940 when he volunteered for special anti-aircraft gun training as a member of the national guard. After he joined the coast artillery, he was given special training at Los Angeles. He went overseas last July to serve as an anti-aircraft gunner on Okinawa and experienced the typhoons which struck there in the fall.

C of C Will Hear Reports Thursday

The Chamber of Commerce meeting Thursday noon will be of particular interest to all members. Ed Egenberger, president, declared Wednesday morning. "A report from the executive committee concerning a part-time paid secretary will be read. There will also be a report from the industries committee which met this past week."

Plattsmouth Men Head Petroleum Industries Group

The Cass County Petroleum Industries Committee elected Carl Ulrich, of Plattsmouth, chairman at their organizational meeting recently in Plattsmouth. "Most of the discussion during the meeting was centered around 'Taxation of the Petroleum Industries, and its Customers, the Motor Vehicles', the new president said.

John A. Ainley, secretary of the Nebraska Petroleum Industries committee, talked on the subject "Nebraska can Match the Federal Aid for Highways." Ainley said, "Many of the people do not realize that approximately $8,000,000 of the Federal Aid Funds have been allocated to feeder or farm-to-market roads, and may be matched with county or local funds."

Resolutions were passed commending congress for repealing the $5.00 automobile stamp tax, and asking congress to repeal the federal tax on gasoline and lubricating oil. The latter resolution pointed out that the present high tax rate on gasoline is equal to 54 per cent sales tax, and that the federal government should leave that field of taxation entirely to the states.

Other officers elected were Lloyd Story of Plattsmouth as secretary and C. E. Welshimer of Plattsmouth as chairman of the legislative committee.

2300 License Tags Sold Since Sale Began January 2

Approximately 5300 license plates for passenger cars and trucks will be sold in the county during 1946. "We've been rushed every day since the tags were available," Miss Patton said. "The certificate of title required now has also made more work."

Delinquency day for the 1946 plates is February.

LOCAL HIGHLIGHTS—

March of Dimes began officially Monday morning. Junior Woman's Club had already given the campaign a good start and have made plans for a dance on January 30 at the Eagles Hall. . . . city council passed ordinances creating ten new paving districts within the city of Plattsmouth. . . . John Ahrens purchased Plattsmouth laundry. . . . Kass County Korn Klub elected Walter H. Smith as new president. . . . Chamber of Commerce made slight progress toward obtaining a part time paid secretary.

KKKKK—

Attendance at the Kass County King Korn Klub banquet Tuesday night seems to indicate that although the organization was forced by the war to lie dormant for a year, there is still plenty of life left.

There was more spirit and interest shown at the banquet than at any other public meeting we've attended for several months. When the carnival comes back this Fall you can bet now that it will be a real show and a credit to the town.

Do you have your 1946 membership card? It only costs one dollar and at that rate the Klub will need as many members as possible to meet the financial obligations involved in putting on the carnival.

One of the points discussed at the banquet was the possibility of having the horse show here. That one event would do much to "put over" the carnival. But it will take money. Your dollar membership is needed to maintain the reputation of the carnival as the biggest show in Cass county.

HOW ABOUT A BAND—

That question was asked by Dr. O. Sandin at the KKKKK business meeting. Everyone cheered when he made the suggestion that Plattsmouth should have a band. It would be rather difficult for anyone to deny that a good band would be worth while.

As the Doctor pointed out, the instruments are available. The players could certainly be found. Everybody agrees it's a good idea. In fact, we've got everything—but the band.

OLD MOVIES—

The movies of the carnival in 1936 shown by Emil Weyrich brought back a great many old memories for those who had a part in those early shows. It was difficult to realize that many of the "small boys" in the movies saw action in the army or navy in World War II.

Many of those present got a "kick" out of seeing themselves and their friends as they were ten or twelve years ago. Seeing those movies proved to be the highspot of the evening.

ORCHIDS—

Orchids this week to everyone who has turned in their bundle for the Victory Clothing Collection. All of the churches have cooperated with the drive by creating collection centers. The pile of clothes in the courthouse grows every day. The drive has passed the half-way mark. If you are planning to do some old clothes, try to do it this week. The sooner your contribution is in the easier it is for those who must handle it.

And if you have a spare moment it would be a perfect gesture to attach a personal note to whoever might receive the clothing you give.

Mrs. Annie Pfeiffer Funeral Services Are Held Monday

Burial services were held Monday afternoon in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, for Mrs. Annie Pfeiffer who died last week at her home in New York City. She was the widow of Henry Pfeiffer, head of the Richard Hudnut company and of the William R. Warner company, manufacturing pharmacists.

Mr. and Mrs. Pfeiffer, noted for their philanthropies, distributed a fortune of several million dollars to colleges in South America, China and Korea as well as many in this country, homes for children and aged, and many organizations within the Methodist church, of which she was an active member. The Methodist church in Plattsmouth was the recipient of one of her many gifts when, through the effort of E. H. Wescott, she had installed in the local church a Hammond concert organ.

Mrs. Pfeiffer served as trustee in several colleges in Buenos Aires, Yenching, China, and in Seoul Korea, and several in this country. She was also a director of the William Warner Company and of Richard Hudnut.

Born in New Hamburg, Ontario, where she was educated in the public schools, she was married to Mr. Pfeiffer in 1882. They are cousins of Mrs. Henry Herold and of Miss Barbara Gering of Plattsmouth and have made a number of visits here where they were known to a wide circle of friends.

Clothing Collection Benefits From Keen Timers Donations

Members of the Keentime dancing club had a novel party Friday evening in the form of a clothing contest among the members who came dressed in as many old clothes as they could possibly wear. About 700 pounds of clothing was collected for the Victory Clothing Collection.

Norma Seimers was the most overdressed of the girls and Emerson Wiles, Bob Gaines and Ray Tineher were the winners among the boys. One boy wore fifteen or more dresses, another had something like ten pairs of shoes strung around his neck and still another wore a conglomeration of articles consisting of aprons, dresses and pajamas.

This clothing is being turned over to the directors of the Victory Clothing campaign for shipment to Europe.

Owing to the fact that the furnace in the Methodist church failed to work, and repairs were unavailable before last Sunday, when the members of the I.O.O.F. Lodge were to be their guests at the morning service, the services were held at the I.O.O.F. lodge hall.

The mornings are for classes and the afternoon is for visitation in the Omaha area. There are also meetings each evening. This meeting was scheduled to have been held at Weeping Water but the inability to secure rooms for the large number who were to attend caused the meeting to have to be changed to Omaha.

Weeping Water Womens club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Clarence Tefft, with a good attendance. Mrs. T. Hugh Hanlan presided. Mrs. Samuel McKeown was in charge of the devotions and Mrs. Eldon Patterson sang two numbers, "Oh Lovely Night" and "Sweet Mysteries of Life." She was accompanied by Mrs. Harold Harmon. Elmwood

They were able to get out with a small amount of clothing. When the fire department arrived they could get only the furniture from the living room—the piano and parlor suit. Most of the contents were burned with the house.

Two of the daughters had some things lost also. One of the daughters, Mrs. LaVerne Nickel and family, expecting to move there soon, Mr. and Mrs. Stege were coming to town as soon as their furniture was ready. Now they will probably come sooner.
