Young Couple Die In Suicide Pact; Wanted to Marry

LONG BEACH, Calif.—UP—Police said Thursday that a 15-year-old girl, refused parental permission to marry, died in a suicide pact with her 17-year-old sweetheart.

They had been missing since Tuesday night.

The young lovers, Shirley Johnson and Aubrey Wayne Matthews, were found clasped in each other's arms late Wednesday in the automobile in the Matthews family garage.

Police said there was a vial of poison crystals in the boy's pocket. Investigators said that the couple—friends for only six months—wanted to wed but that Shirley's father, John Johnson, a mechanic withheld his approval.

There was no suicide note. But there were three letters from Shirley to her swain hinting at their intent. These were found in the girl's handbag.

What show do you want to see on our last night? Shirley had asked her sweetheart in one letter. "We can go to a show then and, well, you know what happens then if you bring the crystals," another read.

In the third letter, the girl had written: "I wish we didn't have to take those little things in that glass tube, but I guess it's best."

Samuel I. Rosenman Leaves White House

WASHINGTON, (UP)—President Truman Thursday announced with "deep regret" the official departure from the white house of Judge Samuel I. Rosenman, who served him and the late president Roosevelt as special counsel. Rosenman will return to private law practice in New York.

Rosenman was one of Mr. Roosevelt's principal assistants and advisors even before he resigned from the New York state supreme court in October, 1943, to take a full time war job at the White House.

Reporters reportedly tried to draw from the chief executive details of any plans for the government to assert the power of the people in the steel case.

Both Sides Want Power
Truman said he thought he had done everything possible and he repeated his belief that he thought the biggest factor preventing settlement was the desire on each side to see who is most powerful.

The president recalled his request to congress for factfinding and cooling off legislation. He said he had asked congress to make certain improvements in the machinery to cope with such situations but that congress had not seen fit to give it to him.

The world cannot return to peace as long as it remains an "armed camp," Byrnes said. "There will be a need for the continuation for some time to come of armies of occupation in Germany and Japan, but it will not make for a peaceful world to have armies of occupation remain in countries which we hope will soon join us in the United Nations."

High School Seniors Compete for Science Scholarships Soon

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Forty high school seniors interested in such things as interplanetary flight and the grafting of frogs' tails to frogs' stomachs will compete here in March for $11,000 in Westinghouse science scholarships.

The seniors, 11 of them girls, are finalists in the Fifth Annual Westinghouse Science Talent search. They have been awarded expenses paid trips here to attend a five-day science talent institute starting March 1. They will meet leading scientists, government officials and educators.

The $11,000 in scholarships, to be distributed according to recommendations of three judges following personal interviews, will include:

Four-year scholarships of $2,400 each to the top boy and girl, eight four-year scholarships of $400 each, and $3,000 in additional scholarships to be distributed at the discretion of the judges.

The finalists, from 14 states and the District of Columbia were selected in science aptitude examinations designed to test "creative ability" and "capacity for thinking."

Andres Segovia, the pre-eminent guitarist, will be heard as soloist with the National Symphony Orchestra in Washington on Jan. 27. A guitar soloist with symphony orchestra is something new in this country, although Segovia has been heard previously with orchestra in Latin-America.

He introduced the novelty at his recent concert in Carnegie Hall, New York, which was his first appearance in that large auditorium. He was assisted by an orchestra of 20 members of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony, and his program included two concertos written especially for him. The works, a concerto in D major by Castelnuovo and "Concerto del Sur" by Manuel Ponce, are the first ever composed for the combination.

The composers achieved a good balance between the solo instrument and the ensemble. The result was effective and pleasing, even in such a spacious hall, although it probably would be still better in a more intimate surrounding.

Segovia will repeat the Ponce work at his Washington concert.

The president said that he did not make his engagements over the radio or through the people. The president pointed out that he had held conferences with management executives before and that he was perfectly willing to have other meetings. But, he said, the best thing Fairless could do was send him word that he would accept the president's proposal for settlement of the steel-strike.

Truman talked slowly and thoughtfully in a news conference as he answered a number of questions bearing on the nations labor dispute.

Reporters reportedly tried to draw from the chief executive details of any plans for the government to assert the power of the people in the steel case.

RED RYDER

Music World

NEW YORK, (UP)—A true index of the kind of opera the American people like best is expected to result from the nationwide poll of radio listeners being made by the Metropolitan Opera Guild.

The opera company has agreed to abide by the result and perform and broadcast the six operas most favored on Saturday afternoons during the 1946-47 season. The outcome of the poll will be announced on the last Saturday broadcast of the current season.

Listeners are being asked to write their local ABC radio station for ballots. The Opera Guild will attend to the distribution of ballots to all members of that organization, as well as to schools, clubs and national music groups.

The ballot has been divided into two lists: the standard opera of the Metropolitan repertory and those less often heard. The voter may choose three from each list and the three most popular in each category will be given next season.

Streicher is Better After Heart Attack
NUERNBERG—(UP)—Julius Streicher was reported recovering from a heart attack in the Nuernberg prison hospital Thursday, but allied doctors indicated the nazi Jew-baiter was not completely out of danger.

A brief medical bulletin said Streicher would be unable to rejoin his fellow defendants in the war crimes court pending further examination and diagnosis of his ailment.

Streicher was stricken during the noon trial recess Wednesday by what doctors described as a "paroxysmal tachycardia" attack—a violent speeding up of the heart action.
