Oregon Studies Tightened Curb On Forest Fires

SALEM, Ore. (U.P.)—The 300,000-acre Tillamook burn, scene of the nation's largest fire, will not be in recent years, will look like a gigantic jigsaw puzzle in 10 years if foresters follow the advice of a special committee. In a report to the chief executive the committee made specific recommendation for a 10-year program to rehabilitate the fire-charred Tillamook area, years.
The most immediate need, the committee said, is fire protection, without which reforestation has indicated.
"It is generally agreed," the committee said, "that cleared corridors, varying from a quarter of a mile to a mile wide, into smaller segments is the best precaution against encircling and dividing the burn spreading of fires."
This plan would see the burn area and adjacent forested territory sliced up into possibly 12 pieces, the theory being that if fire started in one section, it could be controlled and isolated within its own area before it could spread into another section of the burn.

merce Henry Wallace authorizing barge service on the Missouri river as soon as possible. Less than a week after the order was announced the survey was started.
The overall transportation plan calls for barge service from Kansas City north to Sioux City. The members of the group here yesterday were particularly interested in what type of freight Plattsmouth could handle by river transportation. Both Egenberger and Tidd mentioned coal, sugar, salt, grain, lumber and several other commodities that could be handled through river transportation here.
Tidd stated that an agreement had already been signed for construction of a grain elevator near the docks as soon as barge service was established. He also mentioned that distribution of coal throughout this area with Plattsmouth as the distributing point was a definite prospect in event river transportation of coal became a reality.
"Jumped the Gun"
The dock here is the only one between Kansas City and Sioux City, the four river organization officials said. "The others have been thinking about docks but you fellows jumped the gun on them," Macley said.
In answer to a question as to whether it would be necessary to alter the Missouri river bridge in event barge service was established, Capt. Ingersoll said, "Our barges are big but not that big. Our only worry will be getting over the sand not under the bridge."
"We need that nine foot channel. Todd remarked referring to the proposed channel to be dug from Kansas City to Sioux City for river traffic.
"Don't worry you'll get it," Winter replied.
Capt. Ingersoll tempered the statement with "that's quite a way off" but he agreed that it usually was "coming."
Much of the credit for the quick action in starting the survey less than a week after Secretary Wallace's order is due Capt. Ingersoll, Winter said. "He's an experienced river man," Winter said. "He knows all about barges and he knows just what can be done. He's no politician, he's just a river man out to do a job."

116-Year-Old Pear Tree Lives
JERSEYVILLE Ill. (U.P.)—A 116-year-old pear tree on the Ray Nevis farm near here this year again bore as heavy a crop of fruit as it has ever since a pioneer doctor Ralph H. Van Pelt, brought it West with him from New Jersey.

License Plates Change Color
ALBANY N. Y. (U.P.)—New York State's division of motor vehicles is bothered by license plates which change color.
Many plates have faded from the conventional deep yellow to a dark cream and can hardly be recognized as New York plates. They are made at Auburn prison and officials believe wartime material shortages and ersatz paints may be at the root of the trouble.

Truman Docks at Bermuda Base
HAMILTON, Bermuda. (U.P.)—President Truman docked at the United States naval base on Bermuda at 7 a. m. (Plattsmouth time) Thursday for a brief holiday stop-over at the sub-tropical vacation retreat.

The presidential yacht, the Williamsburg, tied up at the pier 51 hours after Mr. Truman turned from New England and headed for a warm climate.

The Williamsburg and its escort, the attack transport Weiss, sailed out of sight of the green waters of the Bermuda Island group soon after sunrise.

Hens Shortchanged on Minerals will shortchange you on eggs

Pay-U MINERAL SUPPLEMENT

New Scientific Mineral Supplement costs only 2c per month per bird

You can't tell by looking at her how many eggs a hen will lay. It's what's inside that counts. Most important is what the hen eats. Poultry need many different minerals to lay eggs at top capacity. Getting along without these minerals or buying supplements that are deficient in minerals will cost you money in the long run. Pay-U Minerals for poultry contain every mineral element poultry are known to need. Get it here and see the results of mineral feeding.
