CC Committee To Meet With School Board

Members of the Chamber of Commerce planning committee will meet with the city school board and representatives of other local organizations Wednesday evening to discuss plans for the erection of a stadium and other improvements for the Plattsmouth Athletic field.

Announcement that the Chamber of Commerce committee would meet with the school board was made at the semi-monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, held Thursday noon at the Bestor dining room in the Plattsmouth hotel.

On a motion by Tom Solomon, the Chamber of Commerce voted that a committee from the American Legion post would be invited to Wednesday's meeting. Members of the Cass County Horse Show Association also will be invited to attend.

John Svoboda, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce planning committee, also announced that all local people who are interested in a program to erect a permanent stadium and athletic plant at the Athletic field are invited to attend next week's meeting.

Although talk of erecting a permanent stand and other athletic facilities has been in the air here for some time, the move by the Chamber of Commerce to call a meeting with the city school board is the first definite step in the program to secure a modern athletic plant for the city.

Police Chief Aids Stranded Vet

Plattsmouth Police Chief Seybert Lytle gave a helping hand to a stranded veteran and his large family here this week.

Louis Gibson, a veteran of World War I, with his wife and eleven children were stranded here Wednesday afternoon with little gasoline and no food.

Chief Lytle met Gibson at the corner of Sixth and Main streets and the traveling vet informed the chief that he was out of money and badly in need of assistance.

Lytle had read a newspaper report earlier this week that Gibson and his family had been stranded in Holdrege and that Holdrege policemen had provided the family with food and a night's lodging in the jail there.

Lytle contacted officials of the local Red Cross and obtained a $5.00 loan for the Gibson family and gave the traveling veteran $1.00 out of his own pocket. The Gibsons were enroute to Illinois. Gibson went into a local store, purchased an armload of groceries and then he and his family headed out of the city.

Jury To Receive Anderson Case Wednesday

Closing arguments in the second degree murder trial of Dr. James C. Anderson were to be heard Wednesday morning and it was expected that Anderson's fate would be placed in the hands of the jury Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. Anderson was on the witness stand again Tuesday along with two other physicians who were called in by the prosecution to explain certain medical aspects of the case.

Dr. Anderson is being tried in connection with the death of Miss Marian Blyth, of Council Bluffs, who died last April at Omaha as a result of an illegal operation.

Anderson was on the witness stand all day Monday as he told in narrative style of his meeting with Miss Blyth and her subsequent death.

He was called to the stand as the first defense witness by his counsel, William Welch, after District Judge John A. Murray denied a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal.

The doctor testified that Miss Blyth was four-and-one-half months pregnant when she came to him and that she spurned his advice home. Instead, she said, she began to go to a Kansas City maternal taking pills not prescribed by him and that when she returned to his office she was about to have a miscarriage.

Dr. Anderson said that he sent Miss Blyth to the Jesse Middleton home in Omaha because she would not enter a regular hospital. There, he continued, he performed an operation "to complete the natural process of miscarriage and her death resulted from a blood clot entering the heart. He broke down weeping near the end of his testimony Monday.
