Budenz, now an instructor at Fordham University, renounced communist principles last year and rejoined the Catholic Church.

Small groups of soldiers separated from their kitchens henceforth will "dine" on the Army's new "5-in-1" ration pictured above. Each box contains three full meals for five persons. The "5+h-1" menu includes: BREAKFAST: apricots, cereal, ham and eggs, white bread and jam, coffee, milk and sugar. DINNER: hamburgers and gravy, white potatoes, catsup, chocolate disc, rice pudding. SUPPER: pork and gravy, whole-kernel corn, white bread and butter, starch-jelly bar, cocoa. Included also are candy, .isarets, matches, chewing gum, water-purification tablets, saltand paper hand-towels, soap, and a sponge.
