

Cascades

We never knew there were very many readers of this column until it failed to appear on the 26th.

The word effort is hastily retracted because we never considered putting words on paper difficult.

Uppermost in our mind at the start of the New Year is a verse from Isaiah LI we read yesterday.

Such a book would have to be set in a small community because rural settlements are the flower beds of America.

Without recognizing the fact small cities towns and farm communities are principally concerned with brotherly interest.

Children who grow up in these American flower gardens become our truly great people.

In cities where the grass grows high in worldly lusts small towners are as obvious as beautiful roses dotting a hillside of tumble weeds.

Since the start of the war there has been an alarming migration from farm to city.

Aside from the commercial angle our small towns and cities should recognize their importance in the future development of a great nation.

Civic projects churches schools business institutions and everyday small town life should be given every support.

Memory Lane-Paving, GAR and Parmele Made Journal Headlines In 1916

Paving of avenues, GAR activities, the Parmele theater, a population increase and actions of the county commissioners were headlines of The Journal 30 years ago.

Here are excerpts from leading stories.

The paving of at least one of the avenues of the city seems to be the ambition of all of the Plattsmouth boosters for the coming season.

Those who had purchased tickets for attending the performance of "Under Cover" at the Parmele last night were quite disappointed to learn a short time before the performance that they would be nothing doing as the theater was as full as the banks of Greenland it was impossible to get heat into the building from the supplies the warmth for the theater.

County commissioners reappointed C. J. Tams as superintendent of the poor farm at a salary of $7.50 a month.

A Christmas program was given by the little tots of First Ward school.

Plattsmouth Lad Scores In One Of Many Bowl Tilts

By The Cub Dear Boss: The football bowl games aren't exactly local news but they're not entirely unlocal.

Besides everyone hereabouts also wanted to see Illinois larrup the Sox off UCLA and that is what happened.

But Plattsmouth had a special interest in one bowl game because it had its own representative.

The Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans wound up with Georgia outscoring North Carolina 20-10 to top off a series of game and spectator ruckuses.

Rice downed Tennessee 8-0 in the Orange bowl at Miami. The temperature was 80 degrees and who but a sucker wouldn't want to be there to enjoy the weather even if he didn't give a hang about commercial football.

The West defeated the East 13-9 in the annual Shrine charity game at Frisco. Horace Greeley picked the winners a long time ago when he gave his famous advice.

Interest Centering On Stork

First entry in the Cass county Stork Derby has been made.

The baby is Kenny Gene Blair born at Bryan Memorial hospital in Lincoln at 1 p.m. Wednesday. He's the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Blair, Louisville.

The mother is the former Alice Pearson. Father is an employee of the Ash Grove cement company.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Blair, Louisville, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pearson, Miami.

Where's the stork? That was the question asked today by many Plattsmouth Journal readers interested in the third annual Cass County Stork Derby sponsored by Plattsmouth merchants and this newspaper.

The lucky babe first to be born in the county this very new year will get a shower of swell gifts from local business men.

Well a poll of physicians early today failed to produce results. The medical men said however there are quite few prospective parents.

Parents or physicians should call The Plattsmouth Journal at No. 6 as soon as possible after the birth. The parents must file a registration at The Journal office with an affidavit showing the time and place of birth.

More than 60 dollars in cash and merchandise is being offered Cass county's first new citizen of 1947.

The prize list was increased today with D. L. Grove offering an engraved sterling silver baby spoon and fork to supplement gifts already announced.
