FRANKLIN-A Name You Can Trust!

Chickens 2 to 14 weeks of age and turkeys from the time they are 3 weeks old until they are half-grown should be watched closely for signs of coccodiosis.

An abrupt drop in feed consumption generally occurs

24 hours before the appearance of noticeable symptoms of coccidiosis and intermittent feeding of SULFAGUANIDINE should be started immediately following such a drop. PROMPT CONTROL OF COCCIDIOSIS SAVES PROFITS.
