The crest of 16.8-ft-about one foot over flood stage-was expected to reach Nebraska City sometime Monday or Monday night.

Ormy engineers at Omaha, however, said that the levies from Omaha south to the Kansas line were in good repair and should hold. The engineers were maintaining a constant patrol of the dikes

The only assistance call the engincers have received so far came Monday morning from a farmer who asked for help in evacuating about 185 head of cattle from Nottleman Island opposite Murray, between Plattsmouth and Nebraska City. The engineers dispatched a launch and a barge to the island.

Seven levies have been breached on both the Nebraska and Iowa sides of the river since the flood started last week, the United Press anid.

The low land south of the road to the Plattsmouth dock was almost entirely submerged Monday. This is an annual occurrence due mainly to the extremely low level of the land. Local Phone Service Continues Here as Workers Leave Posts; Long Distance Is Hardest Hit WASHINGTON- @ -Some 325. 000 telephone workers struck Monday in an unprecedented coast to coast waikout which disrupted normal long distance and local non dial telephone service in all but scattered parts of the country. With President Truman "watching." federal conciliators tried desperately to end the walkout but there were no signs of a settlement on the horizon.

The country-wide strike, first in the nation's history, started at 6 a. m. in the various time zones. Dial telephone service, newspaper teletypes, and major radio network wire communications were not affected . Management supervisors everywhere tried to handle as many "emergency" calls as poss-

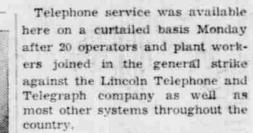

Labor department officials, aware that disruption of service would be likely to get worse if automatic systems broke down for lack of repair, attempted in negotiations here and throughout the country to bring back-to-work agreement from the disrupting parties.

White House aides said President Truman was keeping an eye on the strike. But for the time being, at least, he was not intervening personally in the non-stop efforts of his labor department officials.

The republican congress also was watching the communications crisis. House GOP leaders generally deplored the strike.

Unrestricted service is being given on fire, police, sheriff, doctors, ambulances and other emergency service, Newens said.

But, while Plattsmouth along with the most of the United States was having its communication troubles. Newens expressed hope the strike soon would be ended. "I have full confidence the mat-
