

HOLLYWOOD FILM SHOP

By PATRICIA CLARY United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The biggest difference between a western and the medieval costume drama now shooting at Columbia is that the extras yell "Yonder they go" instead of "They went that way."

up clouds of dust behind them. The new Lana Turner is a dramatic actress who doesn't wear a sweater even to keep warm.

Miss Turner has turned a corner in her acting career, and she said, the road ahead has no curves.

The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer bosses started aiming their glamour queen toward important straight dramatic roles when they started her with John Garfield in the grim "The Postman Always Rings Twice."

Then Carey Wilson producer of "The Postman," asked for her in "Green Dolphin Street."

The spectacle production, also starring Donna Reed, Van Heflin and Richard Hart, was sneak-previewed before a preview-bias audience. They saw a completely new Turner personality—from hair-do to acting scope.

Heavy Drama The star's usually blond hair was brunette. Instead of the light role she played a few years ago, she had a dramatic part. She portrayed a dominating woman who, regardless of consequences, re-undertook to mold others, and then found she had to do a big job of remodeling herself.

This woman ruins three lives and creates spiritual havoc wherever she goes—and she goes from England to New Zealand.

It was a completely different Lana Turner. The usually imperturbable fans sat amazed as the picture ended, then burst into applause.

The picture, which contains earthquake scenes guaranteed to shake movie-goers out of their seats, has been since 1945 in preparation and production. The first postwar "big spectacle," it was delayed for months by shortages of materials in the vast quantities for the sets.

"Green Dolphin Street" is from a novel by Elizabeth Goudge which won the first $175,000 MGM award.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Stewart were at King's Lake near Valley Thursday to visit Mrs. Stewart's father, C. H. Cobb.

Labor Leaders' Messages Call For Repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—Texts of Labor Day statements by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor and Phillip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations:

By PHILIP MURRAY American workers face an unprecedented challenge on this Labor Day of 1947.

The Taft-Hartley Act was designed to wipe out many of the gains that organized labor made during the past several decades.

The Wage-Hour Law was weakened so that it lost much of its usefulness to the lowest-paid workers of the nation.

Funds of governmental agencies which might have been of real assistance in providing facts and personnel to aid in the collective bargaining process were slashed unmercifully under the deceitful slogan of "economy."

Nor is the end in sight. Representative Fred Hartley, co-author of the Taft-Hartley Act, promises even more severe anti-labor legislation next year. Others who speak for big business are anxious to support his efforts.

All American workers—not just those who belong to labor unions—should rally on this Labor Day to support the groups which seek to prevent further turning back the clock on management-labor relations.

The blows which have been dealt organized labor will be felt sharply by the farmer, the merchant and the professional man. When labor's interests are effected adversely, the entire public suffers.

We cannot ignore the repercussions throughout the world that result from each new attack on the rights of the working men and women of this nation. This is extremely important to remember, because most of the world is looking to the United States for economic aid and for preservation of the spirit of democracy.

Throughout the world there is fear that our nation is turning its back on civil liberties, tolerance and progress.

To maintain respect and admiration, we must move forward. We must demonstrate—by deeds and not by words—that we can make democracy function successfully and produce for its people more and more of the good things of life.

Our recent course has been away from those things which Americans want and need most. Short-sighted men with greed for power have been responsible for this.

Our course must be changed if we are to avoid eventual disaster. Labor Day is a good occasion on which to point these things out. It is a good day, too, for those of us in organized labor to pledge we will do everything within our means to wipe the infamous Taft-Hartley Act from the statute books.

We must lay the foundation for new legislation that will help—not harm—the people. We should work for higher minimum wages, a sound national health program, expanded social security, better educational facilities, more and better homes and a halt to persecution of minorities.

The nation's unionists can help achieve these goals—through organization of workers who do not yet enjoy the benefits of unionism—through strong political action in all parts of the nation—through intense activity in every phase of our work.

We must set the stage to meet the demands of the American people. Labor again dedicates itself to this task.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wetenkamp and daughter, Marianne, left Saturday for a two-week trip to Denver. Enroute they stopped at Lincoln where they were joined by Mrs. Ed Smith, daughter of the Wetenkamps, who will make the trip with them.

Read The Journal For News.

By WILLIAM GREEN This year Labor Day finds the nation's workers existing under the ominous shadow of the most oppressive anti-labor law ever enacted by Congress.

There can be no real hope of future progress and the enjoyment of the free, American way of life for the wage-earners of our country while the Taft-Hartley Act remains on the statute books.

As yet, the full impact of this reactionary law has not been felt by labor, but as time goes on its provisions will stifle the growth of organized labor, weaken the trade union movement in our land and make it increasingly difficult for American working men and women to keep their heads above water.

The American Federation of Labor does not propose to submit such oppressive and repressive conditions.

On this Labor Day, I call upon every member of our organization to join in an unrelenting campaign for the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act.

As true Americans, the members of the American Federation of Labor will rally to meet this challenge. We are determined not to let our freedoms be throttled. We are ready to fight with every legitimate weapon at our command to protect our right to improve working and living conditions for ourselves and our fellow workers. We will not willingly permit the forces of reaction to capture control of our country.

Let me make this clear. The American Federation of Labor has just begun to fight. We will use our economic strength to the fullest extent to protect the rights of our members in contract negotiations with employers. We will take advantage of every opportunity to challenge the legality of the slave labor law in courts.

But even such measures are not enough. In the coming year, labor must exert its political strength as never before in history. We must unite to defeat for reelection every member of Congress who voted for this obnoxious law. We must join in electing to our national and state law-making bodies candidates who are truly representatives of the will of the people and will not succumb to pressure by the selfish, big-business interests now dominating the 80th Congress.

Only in this way can we bring about the prompt repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act. Only in this way can we succeed in the enactment of social justice legislation which is so acutely needed by the American people, like health insurance, an adequate housing program and a minimum wage measuring up to the standards of health and decency.

Today full employment has become a reality in America. The goal of sixty million jobs has been reached. But this surface prosperity is based upon a number of temporary factors, such as the huge export demand and consumer shortages resulting from the war. Now is the time to build for permanent prosperity which will eliminate poverty and needless human suffering.

This kind of prosperity is within our grasp. It requires the fullest cooperation between free labor and free management, with government intervention limited to the establishment of minimum standards which will assure decent homes, decent wage floors and decent healthy conditions for the American people.

In fighting for the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, labor is striving for the attainment of these goals.

Joe Medwick, Jr., 9, shows early indications of following in the footsteps of his illustrious father, who made a fine comeback this year to help the charging St. Louis Cardinals.

been quite sick is able to be up and around the house.

Take your films to Feldhausen Drugs for those fadeless prints. One day service.

Nehawka

Friends and relatives surprised Henry Schwartz on his birthday recently.

School will begin September 8. Norman L. Krong superintendent. Harold Kubick is high school coach.

Mrs. Albertina Ost was taken to St. Mary's hospital in Nebraska City for treatment of a broken hip.

Miss Patricia Guthals of Union was married to Harold Johnson of Nehawka in a church wedding at Nebraska City on Sunday, August 24.

The WSCS will meet Wednesday, September 3 at the home of Mrs. Charles Bates.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sayers are visiting in Denver.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Fletcher are home from a trip to the Northwest and along the Pacific coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Linder are rejoicing over the arrival of a grandson born in Chicago to Mr. and Mrs. Rex Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Ross and two daughters are home after visiting at Moorhead, Minnesota. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ficke and children, Janice and Steven, of Manhattan, Kans., visited with Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sturm last week.

Phone Mutual Loan & Finance Co. for LOANS or INSURANCE.

CHICKEN IN THE BOX . . .

Delivered to Your Home ONE-HALF Fried Chicken FRENCH FRIES BREAD & BUTTER

Within 30 minutes after you call, we will deliver one or a dozen boxed chicken orders to your home.

IDEAL FOR Picnic Lunches — Late Snacks Unexpected Guests

HOTEL COFFEE SHOP OPEN EVENINGS AND SUNDAYS Sixth and Main Phone 82

It Can Happen

WINDSTORMS occur unexpectedly and without warning. No locality is immune. They can cause very great damage to your property — perhaps many hundreds of dollars.

Stephen M. Davis Second Floor Plattsmouth State Bank Bldg. PHONE 9

Murdock Mrs. Florence McDonald

Mr. and Mrs. John Krueger were Lincoln shoppers on Thursday afternoon.

Funeral services for Mr. Conrad Wehrman were held at the Trinity Lutheran Church Thursday afternoon.

Louie Wehrman who recently had an operation returned home from the hospital on Wednesday.

Mr. Dick Reickman of Aurora, Illinois came Wednesday evening to spend some time with relatives here.

Mrs. Carrie Wolters of Fremont, Nebraska is here visiting relatives this week.

The Cass County Noxious Weed District have their office and headquarters located in Murdock Co-operative Credit Association here in Murdock.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schlueter left Tuesday for a trip to California.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Harger and family are spending their vacation at Alma visiting relatives.

Mrs. Ray Gamlin is quite sick this past week, being confined to her bed.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gakemeier left early Tuesday morning for Minneapolis to visit their son and wife of that place.

Mr. William Weddell who has

NAEVE'S Package Store LIQUEURS BEER WINE 115 N. Sixth St.

COME IN and see WHY we're proud to offer... OUR COMPLETE SERVICE FACILITIES FOR CARS & TRUCKS FULLY STOCKED PARTS & ACCESSORIES DEPARTMENTS and to have you meet our WELL TRAINED STAFF ASK us about monthly payments on our LOW COST- Cass County Motor Co. Chevrolet Sales and Service 607 First Avenue Telephone 120

SEE OTIS FOR YOUR FEED NEEDS YOUR DEALER —for— PURINA KELLOGG OMAR FEEDS —for— Chickens and Live Stock Otis Specialties ARE "COMPLETE HOG RATION" "OUR OWN BRAND CHICK GROWER" OTIS HATCHERY 324 Main Street Telephone 192

Seen --- Maybe Not Tomorrow --- But Seen --- the leaves will be falling --- fall will be here. Prepare your fall wardrobe today for the happy fall festival days ahead --- "Look Your Best" Plattsmouth Cleaners Free Pickup and Delivery 309 Main Street Telephone 714

Everybody Likes Wimpy's 'Burgers . . . High Brows Say: All the Aesthetic Beauty of Shangri-La Condensed Into One Sandwich. The Hoi Polloi Say: MELLOW G-R-O-O-V-Y! Join the Parade WIMPY'S INN 211 Chicago Avenue Phone 59

ALLEY OOP comic strip panels with dialogue bubbles and illustrations of characters in a jungle setting.