Platter Staff Plans Year; Mary Todd Is Named Acting Editor

Plans for the Platter are now whipped into shape for the school year, according to Mary Todd, acting editor for this issue. These plans involved a subscription campaign under the leadership of Patricia Kocian, Mary Todd, and Joan Ault. Competition between classes whipped up the interest with the next issue of the Platter, the Homecoming number, to be dedicated to the class turning in the largest number of subscriptions. Ten issues are planned for this year, two less than last, because of the higher cost of publication, the cost per issue having been increased eight per cent over last year. Marking the general spirit of cooperation throughout was staffs' desire to work with Mr. Furse, editor of the Plattsmouth Journal, rather than with an outsider hence, the contract for publication with Mr. Furse. Advertising has been sold at the usual rate of fifty cents for one inch and $1.00 for a two inch advertisement.

"Make the school paper every student's paper," is the goal of the Platter staff and students' effort to make it so was in evidence last week by the number of items, over 100, dropped in the blue box and also by the turn-out in quality and quantity of students who were willing to be responsible for Platter copy. Many of the forty-three who are listed are not only upper classmen but are also experienced workers.

The following list includes the students who, sometime or other throughout the year, will have an active part in turning out the paper. Those active in this issue are listed on the editorial page. This group will change slightly each issue, with a few new names added and a few changing to new activities.

Here are the names of staff members: News—Mary Todd, Shirley Hudson, Patricia Kocian, Bill Baumgart, Joan Ault; Copy readers—Carol Bernhardt, Patty Colby, Margaret Heineman; Advertising—Leon Elliott, Bob Meisinger, Pete Hill, Bill Kellison, Joanne Lentz, Don Aylor, Jim Alkire, Charles Patterson, Anna Francis Schubeck, Ruby Kennedy, Bill Holly; Typing—Mary Jo Rebal, Phyllis Snodgrass, Ruby Kennedy, Margaret Farney, Elva Jean Smock, Anna Francis Schubeck, Betty Koubek, Joan Cockerill; Reporters—Ruby Kennedy, Naomi Roloff, Francis Clinkenbeard, Frances Gunsolly, Lois Robinson, Wilma Keil, Tina Woster, Sally Gaines, Richard Huebner, Billy Jeanne Horn, Ruth Hobbs; Circulation—Rosa Bell.

Members of the Journalism class who do most of the re-write work are—Shirley Hudson, Ruby Kennedy, Joanne Lentz, Donna Wagner, Anna Schubeck, Bill Holly, Bill Kellison, Don Aylor, Ray Price and Charlene Patterson.
