Death of Former Resident Saturday

The death of Mrs. Marvella Howland King, a former Plattsmouth resident, occurred Saturday at Superior, Nebraska, where she has been quite ill for some time at a hospital.

Mrs. King was born in Illinois but came west when a child and has since made her home in Nebraska. She lived for a number of years at Superior, later coming to Plattsmouth where she resided for a great many years.

She was married to Charles Howland who was killed in a railroad accident here. In later years she was married to Isaac King, a school friend from Superior and returned to that city to make her home.

While a resident of Plattsmouth Mrs. King was very active in the work of the Methodist church and Sunday school. She was also one of the early day members of the Chapter F of

Hallowe'en at St. John's
The students of the St. John's parochial school held their Hallowe'en party at the school on Thursday afternoon, all of the school children participating.

The members of the party came in costume and had a very fine time during the afternoon in playing games and enjoying the opportunity of admiring the cleverly designed attire of each other.

Prizes were awarded to the children adjudged to have the cleverest costumes, "Butch" Bestor and Louise Berlett were given the honors.

Treats of Dixie cups were served to the jolly party during the afternoon.

Altar Society of St. John's Entertain

The members of the St. John's Altar society held a very pleasant Hallowe'en party at the St. John's hall on Thursday evening that was very largely attended.

The hall was arranged in decorations of the Hallowe'en season, making a fine setting for the party.

The ladies all came in costume, a very large number and many characters being seen during the evening, as the jolly party progressed. The prize of the evening was won by Mrs. Henry Starkjohn and Mrs. Frank Schiele, they appearing as bride and groom.

Several clever entertaining features were staged by the ladies, these including a dancing number by Mrs. Josephine Ulrich and three Hallowe'en games that all participated in. The group also enjoyed three set of square dances that added to the interest and fun of the evening.

Refreshments were served the group at the close of the evening by the committee in charge.
