

Winter Warn To Car, Truck Operators

Don't let Old Man Winter catch you by surprise, car owners and truck fleet operators were warned today by Dwight Havens, president of the Nebraska State Safety Council.

"Face the threats of wintry months ahead in confidence that your vehicles are, in tip-top shape, particularly from the standpoint of safe driving," he advised. "Preparing an adequate defense will help you prevent causing accidents and traffic tie-ups. It's no fun to have mechanical failures, an accident or get stalled at any time, but it's doubly disheartening to run into trouble in bad weather and then realize that a little timely care would have prevented it."

Items requiring pre-winter checkup were listed as follows: Brakes—Be sure they are equalized; Windshield defrosters and wipers—You must see a hazard to avoid it when it gets cold or snows; Tire chains—Have them ready to use when snow or ice conditions get bad; Exhaust system—Check for possible defects, and carbon monoxide leakage; In-car: Electrical system—Inspect to prevent added moisture of winter causing short circuits; Headlights—Check for proper focus and aim, on bright and dim beams. Remember, you may even need lights during day when snow storms develop; and Tires—Good treads are highly desirable because they help lots on wet pavement; but even new treads or "rubber chains" won't aid on packed snow or ice. Only metal tire chains will bite into packed snow or ice, according to National Safety Council tests.

In addition to putting this standard and winter equipment in condition for seasonal use, Havens urged that drivers revise their driving habits when the bad weather arrives.

"Start a little earlier and reduce your speed," he advised. "Braking distances on snow or ice are three to 12 times greater than on dry pavements. Under severe snow or ice conditions, tire chains reduce passenger car braking distances 40 to 50 per cent," he declared. "On heavier trucks, buses, and tractor-trailer equipment, anti-skid chains are still more essential. They cut truck skidding 60 to 70 per cent. Chains also provide needed traction for getting under-way or climbing a grade. Other special winter equipment includes defrosters, heaters, warning flares and fuses to provide protection in case of breakdown under winter conditions."

Citing research by the National Safety Council, Havens reported that in many snow belt states last winter, nearly 65 per cent of all traffic mishaps occurred on snowy or icy road surfaces.

"Foremost factors in the high winter accident rates are inadequate traction and poor visibility," the official declared. "Accordingly, drivers must learn to adjust speeds to conditions, use metal anti-skid chains when severe snow and ice conditions prevail, slow down well in advance of intersections and curves, maintain safe distance between vehicles, signal intentions of turning or stopping, and be sure of ability to see and stop according to conditions."

"Traffic fatality rates jumped from 24 to 53 per cent in northern states during the months of ice and snow," said Havens. "We need everyone's cooperation if we are to get through the winter season with a minimum amount of trouble in traffic," he concluded.

Seek to Bring Army Strength

The department of the army this week asked the nation's universities to cooperate in a plan which would help bring the all-volunteer regular army up to its authorized strength of 1,070,000 men.

In a letter to university presidents the department of the army stressed that it was the sincere desire of the Army and Air Force to give veterans, as well as others, who are forced to forego their schooling because of the crowded conditions a chance to become familiar with career opportunities in the service.

Institutions cooperating in the plan will appoint a personnel counselor to work with the U. S. Army and Air Force recruiting service in a concerted effort to give veterans and other students every opportunity for an education.

The department of the army hopes to "absorb" the surplus students, and feels they can continue their formal education while in the Army with the United States Armed Forces Institute as well as gain a liberal education by traveling throughout the world with the Army and Air Force.

Football Team Honored By the Community

Mr. Casey then presented the speaker of the evening, Judge Herbert Rhoades, of Omaha, who handles the domestic relations and juvenile court docket of the Douglas County bench. Judge Rhoades was very much enjoyed in his short and interesting address. He enlivened the evening with many clever stories and gradually swept into the main part of the address that stressed co-operation and team work on the athletic field, in the school and in the home.

He urged the audience in their activities of life to play the game, while they were in the full tide of life. It was necessary for some to get into the harness and do their part, as everyone could not carry the ball.

In complimenting the team Judge Rhoades told of the fine effect that church and good character made on men and women in later life as he had observed from the bench.

To the boys of the school he pointed out that they were coming on the stage and would in the future years be advanced to places of leadership in the nation and prepare the future chart of the world activities.

The radio that was offered to the student selected by the audience for his service resulted in the naming of John Johnson by the large group by ballot.

Mr. Alkire told of the offer of C. E. Westcott's Sons to award the services of players selected in the field for their work. The firm had presented Champ hats to Richard Bintner in the early part of the season, later in the season as two of the players tied, the Champ hats had gone to Gilbert Peterson and Charles Fulton. For the final Champ hat for the last touchdown of the season, the hat was awarded to Jim Alkire, by his father, Harold Alkire.

Mr. Alkire also presented the radio to John Johnson on behalf of the radio shop.

Coach Merle Stewart then presented to Gilbert Peterson, team captain, the football that they had carried on many fields. This was autographed by all the players, the coaches and those connected with the team activities.

The grace was sung by the boys of the squad and at the close the benediction was offered by Rev. Sherman Hanson of the First Christian church.

The following were the honorees:

Charles Newton, Robin Nierste, Carl Of, Gilbert Peterson, Wendell Peterson, Dan Rohan, Tom Rohan, Chester Ruth, Ernest Schubeck, Farnum Taylor.

Nebraskans Can Well Be Thankful

Among many things for which Nebraskans may be thankful is this State's excellent liquor control statutes.

These laws are clear, enforceable, and have the backing of public sentiment.

They provide that violating taverns may lose their license. That's why, today, tavern-keepers generally are striving to operate in the public interest—to keep their places clean, wholesome and decent—to eliminate sales to excessive drinkers and minors.

You, as a citizen, have a duty in still further improving the State's beer retailing conditions. It's your duty to demand strict enforcement of the law . . . to discourage excessive drinking and unsocial conduct.

The Nebraska Committee, U. S. Brewers Foundation, wants and works for strict law enforcement, and welcomes all opportunities to cooperate with citizens to this end.
