Senator Wherry Secures Oil

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Senator Kenneth S. Wherry (R. Neb.) announced today that 50,000 gallons of fuel oil were delivered to the Omaha, Nebraska area this week, in response to an appeal from that city that fuel oil supplies were at a low ebb.

Another 80,000 gallons of kerosene and fuel oil have been offered for delivery to Omaha in January and February by major oil companies. This adds up to a total of 130,000 gallons of fuel oil to relieve the immediate shortage.

These shipments were forthcoming in response to efforts by Senator Wherry, when information reached him last week of the acute situation.

"If anyone in Nebraska is cold because of lack of fuel oil," Senator Wherry said, "I want them to write me direct. However, we must realize that there are serious shortages of fuel oil all over the country, and everyone must cooperate by employing conservation methods. I will do all in my power to alleviate personal suffering, or any shortages which threaten health and safety."

Cass County Man Active in Engineering

The last issue of the "Blue Print," official publication of the Nebraska Engineering Society, affiliated clubs, has a very interesting sketch of Paul Murfin, former Cass County young man who has made quite a record at the University in his work. Mrs. Murfin was formerly Helen Grant, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grant, who reside near this city.

In speaking of the work of Mr. Murfin, the Blue Print has the following:

"Another outstanding engineer is friendly Paul E. Murfin, electrical engineering senior. An old timer on the engineering campus, Paul expects to see this January the end of a college career that started back in the fall of 1939.

"Paul, 25, was born in Wabash, Nebraska, and had his pre-college schooling at Murdock, Nebraska. Entering the University of Nebraska in 1939, he set his sights on an electrical engineering degree and started working his way through school.

"A member of the advanced ROTC when it was activated in 1943, he continued his studies under the auspices of the Army, later taking some training at Ft. Riley, Kansas, followed by a brief return to the U. N. campus before attending Officer Candidate School at Fort Belvoir, Virginia. Commissioned a second lieutenant in June 1944, Paul joined the 163 Engineer Construction battalion which took him to France and Germany, the Philippines via the Panama canal and on to Japan, where he spent nine months in the army of occupation. He returned to the States in June 1946, and was released to inactive duty as a captain in September 1946.

"The fall of 1946 saw Paul at Nebraska working on his degree. An excellent student, he was awarded the 1947 Sawyer scholarship and a member of Sigma Tau and Sigma Xi. This year he is chairman of A.I.E.E., chairman of the Engineers Executive board and before the war was associated with Phalanx and S.A.M.E.

"Paul is a member of the fast growing fraternity of married students and is the proud father of a bouncing baby boy. Last summer he worked in the research laboratories of the Stromberg-Carlson Co., Rochester, New York, and he plans to continue his work there upon graduation."
