

Harold Alkire Goes to Sothan Plant Monday

Saturday evening Harold Alkire closed his connection with the Wescott clothing store, where he has been a most efficient salesman for the past two and a half years. The Wescotts are regretting very much to lose his service, but like all of the friends here are happy with knowing that he will continue to make this city his home.

Mr. Alkire is going to the Sothan Body and Manufacturing Co., one of the local manufacturing plants, where he will be manager in charge of production of the company.

Mr. Sothan is president of the company, E. H. Bernhardt, vice-president and Orville Nielsen, secretary-treasurer and Mr. Alkire as the manager of production for the organization.

Mr. Alkire and his estimable family have been residents of Plattsmouth since 1943, coming here from Springfield, Ohio, where he was with the Allen Tool Co. He was sent by the company to represent them in their contract at the Martin plant, then engaged in manufacture of the building of planes for the government. He was engaged in production at the plant factory at Atlanta, Georgia, for the Allen company and then later sent to Fort Worth, Texas, where he was engaged with the Globe Aircraft company in a similar capacity.

With the close of the war Mr. Alkire and family returned to Plattsmouth, where they had purchased property in 1943, and they have since made this their home.

In the early summer of 1945 Mr. Alkire entered the service of Wescotts for a period of several weeks while Mr. Wescott was away on a vacation and so satisfactory was his services that he was persuaded to remain with the firm.

He has just recently been elected as the president of the Chamber of Commerce and it is a pleasure to learn that he will still be here to guide the civic body.

Schreiner Drug Installs New Fittings

The interior of Schreiner's drug store has in the past week been undergoing a transformation in the arrangements of the interior that makes it as near a self service store as possible.

The shelving has been re-arranged and arranged so that the person entering the store can find what they wish in the large stock, ready at hand, marked for the information of the patrons.

It is one of the most conveniently arranged stores that can be found, saves time and trouble for both the staff at the store and the shopper.

On the shelves that line the wall, are the marked goods and all that is necessary is for the customer to select the articles desired and take them to the wrapping counter where they are prepared by the clerks for handling.

With the very large stock this is a true time saver for all concerned in the shopping hours.

John Everett, from near Union, was in the city Wednesday to look after some matters of business and calling on his friends in this city for a few hours.

Car Badly Damaged By Fire Tuesday

Tuesday night the fire department was called to South 9th street, where an auto was reported to be on fire. It was found that the car was the Packard owned by Elmer Hallstrom, Avoca banker.

Mr. Hallstrom was called here by the fatal illness of his mother, Mrs. John H. Hallstrom, and as the car was approaching the home on South 9th street it was caught in the heavy snow and stalled.

It is thought that the car became heated and some of the anti-freeze leaking out of the car caught fire and soon did a great deal of damage to the car.

Plattsmouth and Vicinity Swept by Storm

Plattsmouth and the eastern portion of Nebraska was swept by one of the heaviest snow storms of the past few years on Sunday and Monday night and left the community buried in snow as the residents here awakened on Tuesday morning.

Sunday night a storm had brought some four inches of snow and this was followed by the second storm starting shortly after 8 o'clock Monday night, the snow falling unabated until Tuesday morning and leaving the city streets and walks heavily laden with snow that practically tied up all traffic for the greater part of the day.

The early workers who were out, had difficulty in plowing through the snow to their work in the BRES shops and downtown stores. The workers at Fort Crook found that the road condition would not permit their travel and the plant was idle for the day as those from Omaha working there found it impossible to get through.

The travel in the city was a real hazard, and the busiest men in the city were the operators of the wreckers who were kept busy in getting the cars and trucks out of the snow and sometimes slippery streets. Cars were stalled in the middle of the Main streets and intersections throughout the morning.

Bus service was curtailed during the morning hours but the Cotner bus was able to make the trip to Omaha at 1:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

Trucks heading for Omaha were stalled all along the highway to the north of this city, and finally were checked by the State Highway Patrol from continuing their trips until the highway might be cleared. At one time the vicinity of the Kent oil station at Elm street and Webster boulevard, was filled with stalled trucks and cars.

One of the effects was shown in the high school attendance where out of 290 students there were only 94 able to make the journey to the school house.

Sleepy Snake

Not even handling by as cute a "snake charmer" as 7-year-old Elaine Bailey can rouse this four-foot bull snake from its winter nap. The sleeping snake was dug up by Elaine's brother near their Hutchinson, Kan., home. It had burrowed two feet underground to hibernate.
