Nebraska Beer and Liquor Licenses Expire April 30

The tavern-keepers who will sell beer in your town for the year starting May 1 will be selected soon.
All must apply for a new license. The elected officials in your town will make the selections. Who will these tavern-keepers be? Will they be men of whom you approve?
YOU have an obligation in the selection of licensees. A public hearing affords you the opportunity of protesting the selection of any you find should not have a license.
Your interest in improving beer-selling conditions is genuinely welcomed by the beer industry. They, too, are anxious that only those are selected who observe the State's liquor control laws.
You will serve your community by urging the selection of none but good licensees.
