Book Reviews To Feature Fall Entertainment

The Woman's Federation of the First Presbyterian church of the city is to sponsor a series of book reviews for the fall and winter season that will be a very cultural addition to the community entertainment.

The members of the Federation are very happy to have the services of Beatrice Hoel Farrell, of Omaha, as the reviewer for the series. Mrs. Farrell is well known to audiences in this section of the state, last year gave several of her dramatic readings in this city and was an immense favorite with the audiences.

The series this year will open on October 12th with "Tobias Brandywine" by Dan Wickenden, as her offering. It is the delightful and humorous story of a lovable little man who endeavored himself to an interesting American family. It is entertaining, amusing and thoroughly wholesome.

The second review of Mrs. Farrell will be on November 9th, "Cry the Beloved Country," by Alan Paton, a powerful unusual book about a Zulu pastor in South Africa. It is beautifully written with a strong spiritual message.

The last of the series will be on December 14th with "The Haunted Bookshop" by Christopher Morely, a charming sequel to Morley's "Parnassus on Wheels." "The Bookshop" is an exciting mystery melodrama with lots of whimsical humor and delightful characterizations. It is completely wholesome, and recommended for the entire family. "The Haunted Bookshop" was first published in 1917 and has been a first seller ever since.

Mrs. Farrell gives her readings appearing in costume to correspond with the book review.

The ladies of the federation are now conducting the ticket sale for the series and Mrs. T. I. Frest is the chairman of the committee in charge of the series of reviews.
