Wiles Return From Trip to Ozarks

M. and Mrs. C. L. Wiles have just returned from a motor trip to the Ozark mountain country, where they had visited at the home of Loren Wiles, at Anderson, Missouri.

Rev. Loren Wiles, a brother of C. L. Wiles, has the pastorate at the First Christian church, at that place and has resided in that territory for many years.

While driving farther south into Arkansas, into that section of the Ozarks, which is famous for its scenic outstanding beauty, Mr. and Mrs. Wiles were pleasantly surprised to find the location of Reo Ridge where, during the Civil War, Thos. Wiles, deceased, was wounded in the Battle of Pea Ridge. A museum, marking the place, contains relics collected during that period. This part of the trip was indeed gratifying, as C. L., better known as Ted, often heard his father relate the severity of the Battle of Pea Ridge.

They also had a pleasant visit at the Lincoln Wiles' 80 acre fruit farm at Neosho, Missouri.

ATTEND BAPTISM

Miss Carmelita Pound and Mr. George Lebens of Omaha were here this week to attend the baptismal service of Mary Josephine, daughter of Attorney and Mrs. Harold Lebens, Miss Pound and Mr. Lebens, aunt and uncle of the babe served as the Godparents. The sacrament was given by Father John Kelly at the St. John's church.

Columbus Day Dinner Party

The members of the local council of the Knights of Columbus with the Catholic Daughters of America, enjoyed a very pleasant observance of Columbus day Tuesday.

The event was a dinner party and social evening at the Holy Rosary hall in the west part of the city, very largely attended by the members of the two organizations.

Following the dinner that was most thoroughly enjoyed, the members of the group spent the time in cards, in the playing Mrs. W. V. Ryan was the winner of the high honors in bridge and Mrs. Joseph Biell was the winner in the pinocle games.

Birthday Club Honors Friend

The members of the Park Hill birthday club gathered at the home of Mrs. Warren Bollmeier on Friday, October 8 to honor Mrs. George Lushinsky. The ladies enjoyed playing bingo and visiting.

A beautifully decorated table was highlighted by the birthday cake and huge side candles. Autumn leaves gave color to the setting. Mrs. Lushinsky was presented with many lovely gifts. Associate hostesses were Mrs. George Fornoff and Mrs. J. C. Petersen.

RETURNS FROM HOSPITAL

Tuesday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. John Beckman were in Omaha where they visited with Mrs. Thomas Ruby at the Clarkson hospital, finding Mrs. Ruby so much improved that she was able to accompany them home. While not well, Mrs. Ruby is feeling much better, and will recuperate at the family home at Mynard.

World Community Day Needs Money Gifts For Aid

We think of our own young people as our hope for a peaceful future world. But they are not the only ones. We must depend as well on the young people of Europe and Asia, even those who were orphaned and displaced from their homes. If they are cold or hungry or ill from malnutrition and neglect, their minds are fertile ground for dangerous and revolutionary ideas that may destroy all hope of peace in our time—or theirs. If not for love of humanity, then for our own safety and the safety of our children, we must help them. This is a new kind of war of hope and love we women are waging.

So—we need your money gifts. We need them to help buy supplies for the "Pack-A-Towel" bundles. We need them to pay the freight when we send the bundles to the collection center. After that, all money left over will be invested by Church World Service in medical supplies for these unfortunate young people. Think of your own healthy son or daughter and then reflect of you haven't some money extra to help at least one sick, discouraged boy or girl in Europe.

Last year the collection from our community was $42.44. Of this, $14.82 went for freight. That left $27.62 as our money gift toward the rehabilitation of six to twelve year olds, which was last year's project. Not very much for Plattsmouth, with a population of — The United Council of Church Women is sure we can do better this year.

Come to World Community Day service at the Christian church, November 5, because you want to give. Next week we will tell you why WE NEED YOU.

Father Agius to Be Home Next Week

Rev. Monsignor George Agius, pastor of the St. John's church in this city, is expected home in the next few days from his extended visit in Malta and Italy with his relatives.

He has been overseas since last fall and is looking forward with pleasure to being back home with the members of his parish. He is making the trip from Europe to New York by plane and will then come by train on to Plattsmouth.

A special switch, designed to prevent fire when a motor vehicle overturns, is available. It automatically cuts off engine ignition the moment a vehicle tips to an angle of 45 degrees or more.

Miss Jean Hallas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hallas of Omaha, is to be a bride of the late fall season, her wedding to Mr. Robert Boyle having been set for October 30th.

Miss Hallas is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Hallas and a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hallas of this city.

In honor of the forthcoming nuptials a number of parties are being given in Omaha by friends.

A miscellaneous shower was given Tuesday by Mrs. Gerald E. Collins at home, Mrs. J. A. Nickerson, Mrs. Clarence Skellenger and Mrs. G. J. Nickerson will be co-hostesses at a linen shower and luncheon Wednesday at the Blackstone. A dinner and bridal shower has been planned for the evening of October 17 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hinchey.

Miss Evelyn Banner and Miss Constance Goff, bridesmaids, will give a miscellaneous shower the evening of October 20 for Miss Hallas at the home of Miss Goff's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Goff.

There will be a bridal shower and luncheon October 21 at the home of Mrs. J. W. McNamara.

Reserves Win From Ashland Monday

Monday afternoon the Reserves of the Plattsmouth high school and the team composed of Ashland second string players battled on the local gridiron to entertain the group of fans in a good game.

The Plattsmouth team proved the winners 7 to 0 in a hard fought battle. The work of Girardot for the Junior Blue Devils proved the winning factor, he driving through the visitors line for the touchdown and then took the same play to score the extra point.

Mrs. Farrell Heard in Fine Book Review

A large and very attentive audience greeted Beatrice Hoel Farrell Tuesday evening at the Presbyterian church when she presented the book dramatization of "Tobias Brandywine" by Dan Wickenden. "Tobias Brandywine" is a heartwarming novel of a family and the stranger in their midst. In one sense, Tobias Brandywine never really existed. It was just a name given to the mysterious, half-starved stranger who suddenly appeared late one wintry afternoon at the back door of Senator Windrow's mansion in the small midwestern town of Wanhope. But the stranger stayed on, and even if they didn't know who he was or from whence he came or why fate led him to the door, there wasn't a member of the Windrow family who did not feel his influence, whose life was not in some way redirected, brightened, given new meaning by the presence of the "little man". So, in the ways that matter Tobias Brandywine really did exist and influenced all of the members of the family's troubled circle from the youngest to the eldest. It is the story of a loveable, valiant little man with a very big heart. Mrs. Farrell's portrayal of each of the characters was very vivid and clear and gave her listeners a warm, engaging and amazingly perceptive understanding of the varied longings and fears, the varied joys and hopes of three generations of the Windrow family. The book, depicting the days of the 1920's and Mrs. Farrell was costumed to suit the setting of the story. Her marked ability to make her hearers "know" the Windrows was very real.

Mrs. Farrell is no stranger to Plattsmouth audiences as she appeared in a series of book reviews last year and was a welcome guest again on a return engagement.

The next of the series of three book dramatizations will be on Nov. 9th when Mrs. Farrell will bring "Cry the Beloved Country" by Alan Paton and the third and final in the series will be Dec. 14th, "The Haunted Bookshop" by Christopher Morley.

These book dramatization treats are being sponsored by the Women's Federation of the Presbyterian church.

Junior Woman's Club Holds Membership Tea

The Plattsmouth Junior Woman's club held a very pleasant membership tea on Monday night at the First Methodist church attended by a large group of the members and the prospective members.

The tables were arranged with floral decorations to add to the settings and each of the members attending were presented with corsages.

The program of the evening was very cleverly given a "Dr. I. Q." offering as well as "Stop the Music" being presented by the committee in charge of this feature of the evening that provided plenty of entertainment for the guests.

The committee in charge Miss Shirley Jacobs, Mrs. T. I. Friest, Mrs. Maile Tiekotter, Mrs. Geraldine Hirz, Mrs. Doris Hirz, Miss Audrey Dow, Miss Dorothy Cappel, Miss Norma Spidell, Mrs. Louise Huebner, had arranged most delightful refreshments. Mrs. Friest and Miss Jacobs poured.
