

Ole Olsen Long Time Figure in Cass County

home was "his castle", and his wife and family were his happiness.

Ole Olsen was born January 27, 1873 at Storehedings, Denmark, and came to America, to join his brother, Andrew Olsen, at Weeping Water. He often reviewed the past, and told how he worked at odd jobs, for small pay, while he was learning the English language, and then he entered the employ of Frank Wolcott, father of Lloyd P. Wolcott, and remained in their home for four years, after which he owned and operated a grocery store.

He was married to Miss Emma Rasmussen, of Omaha, in 1903, and soon after his marriage, he became interested in the stone business, and the older he grew the more he felt the importance of that industry for his community. His pay roll grew as the years advanced, and he had several men who had been with him in the business for many years. He was their friend as well as their employer.

He had two daughters, Mrs. Robert Gessing, and Mrs. Charles Marth, of Chicago, and three grandchildren, who were his pride and joy.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, October 28, 1948 at the Congregational church, of which he was a trustee, with Rev. John C. Pryor, of the Congregational church, in charge of the service. Victor Wallick sang two numbers, "My Jesus As Thou Wilt", and "Crossing the Bar", accompanied by Sterling Marshall at the pipe organ. Mr. Marshall also played several numbers preceding the service.

Pull bearers were Fred Rehmer, A. J. Bender, Fred Allen, Frank J. Domingo, G. R. Binger, Ray Norris, Leslie Wiles, and Lloyd Raney. Interment was in Oakwood Cemetery, and Hobson's funeral home was in charge of all arrangements. The altar of the church was banked with flowers, bearing mute testimony of the esteem in which the deceased was held in the community.

There was an undercurrent of sadness in the thought that his brother, Peter Olsen, is in Denmark on a trip and could not be present at his funeral. His brother, Andrew Olsen passed away several years ago. He leaves a brother and sister in Denmark.
