

Weeping Water

Mrs. Thomas Murley

Clarence Norris left Omaha by plane, Friday morning, for Sacramento, Calif., on business connected with his hatcheries. With orders ahead for thirty thousand turkey poults, he hoped to find eggs, for earlier hatching while in the west. He made a two hour stop at Salt Lake City, for a conference with turkey growers. He expects to return home Tuesday morning. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Norris, took him to Omaha to board the plane.

A telegram reaching here Thursday, told of the birth of a daughter, Debra Ann, to Mr. and Mrs. James Jabot (Roberta Heebner), of Denver, that morning, November 4th. The little lady weighed 7 pounds. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Heebner, Sr., of Weeping Water.

They were accompanied by their son, Dallas, and Richard Dowler, of Omaha. Mr. and Mrs. Tony Sudduth, of Plattsmouth, came to take charge of the Wiseman Produce station, while they were away.

Claude Canaday, of Bloomfield, former Weeping Water man, arrived home Tuesday, after a two weeks trip to Europe, where he went in response to a plea for help to the Bloomfield people, who are their American sponsors. The plea came from a factory which was threatened by having to close their doors, leaving a hundred men without work, and taking a much needed industry from the town. Mr. Canaday immediately responded by taking a plane to Europe, and adding his plea to the powers at Potsdam, for the retaining of the factory. Bloomfield has taken the task of sponsoring and helping Kamen, in the British zone, in Germany. The factory is in Kamen.

Weeping Water high school football team won 19-0, over the Nebraska City Reserves, Monday afternoon, after school. It was a hotly contested game, and Garrison helped build up their score with two touchdowns and Donald Gray, added another touchdown, making the going easy for the remainder of the game.
