Returned Priest Tells of China and Problems

Tuesday evening the members of Monsignor M. A. Shine council of the Knights of Columbus, had a very pleasant treat afforded them on the visit of Father Meade, returned missionary from China, and Father Allan, the rector of the St. Columban's seminary at Bellevue.

This seminary at Bellevue, is the training point for priests of the Roman Catholic faith, destined for service in the Chinese field, where they have established a great record of service in all sections of the great and comparative unknown nation of the orient.

The talk of Father Meade brought to the hearers a greater understanding of China and the Chinese people, his religious work had covered not only the better known sections along the coast, but into the interior of the nation. He pointed out that the Chinese were faced to day with many grave economic problems, want was ravaging the land, it was no unusual sight to see a great many of the Chinese die on the streets of their cities from famine and want. This great want had made them susceptible to the Communist teachings as promising something better than present conditions, as after all self preservation is a basic human instinct.

In speaking of the church and its teachers in the orient, Father Meade stated that the missionaries of the Catholic church were largely remaining in China as long as possible to serve the people in their spiritual life, despite the fact that they faced persecution and perhaps death at the hands of the invading Red forces that were Communistic dominated.

Father Meade told of the ancient Chinese, whose beliefs and customs largely prevailed in the interior of the nation, their humbleness in dealing with the white races, the dread of "loosing face" with the strangers as well as their own people.

The evils that prevailed were largely brought to the coast cities by the foreigners and had planted the seeds of many of the great evils that were found in the large cities, nurtured there by the foreign elements down through the years.

A luncheon was enjoyed after the meeting.

MURRAY SCHOOL NOTES

Margaret Richter and Harriet McVay reporters.

School is running more or less normally after the "storm." The only bad effect seems to be a small epidemic of bad colds. Those answering sick call were Harriet McVay, Margie Markey, Junior Radtke and Gary Campbell. With the aid of aspirin and cough drops the little school is over coming the "cold bug."

To prove there is a spark of chivalry left, the male population of Murray Junior high is sponsoring a Valentine's Day party. Despite the fact the girls view it with some doubt the party will be one of the best, say the boys.

The basketball team is still anxious to schedule games with any comparable team. The team is made up of grade boys with only two freshmen.

Seventh and eighth grades alike are digging deep into the secrets of compound or "compound" interest. The English and Grammar class is building complicated designs by diagramming complex and compound sentences.
