

The Future Life (Easter).
Easter Lesson for April 17:
John 5:25; I Corinthians 15:20-26;
II Corinthians 4:16, 5:1.
Memory Selection: I Corinthians 15:20.

The lesson text begins with the great statement that the hour comes when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God and live. The hope of eternal life had stirred men from remote antiquity. Since the Resurrection it has thrilled men with assurance.

Death came through Adam's disobedience, but in Christ all shall live. Christ has risen, we shall rise. At length the present order will cease in the swift passing of the world. The atomic bomb indicates that the utter destruction of the earth is entirely possible. When the end comes, the cataclysm will not touch the unseen heaven. That blessed place will remain for the people of God. Let the Easter season bring the spiritual certainties of the other world nearer to all of us.

Within his decaying earthly tabernacle man himself may be renewed day by day until he puts his shining garments on to dwell with God evermore. The things which are seen are temporal, but the things which are not seen are eternal. Nothing you can see with the mortal eye will endure. Only what you see with the eyes of faith will outlast the world. Everything worth while is an unseen thing.

When our earthly house shall fall, we shall have a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. May the assurance of an eternal life of righteousness come to us anew this Easter, giving high purposes to the life which now is, and thrilling our hearts with sure hopes of a blessed future.

Sunday school at 9:45 a. m.
"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon.

Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, April 17, 1949.

The Golden Text is: "John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." (John 1:29). Other Bible citations include, "Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us." (Hebrews 12:1).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The scientific unity which exists between God and man must be wrought out in life-practice, and God's will must be universally done." (page 202).

FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH
"The Church of the Lutheran Hour"

Cleo Kautsch, Pastor
Good Friday was a sad day for those who had placed their trust in Jesus Christ and His teachings. To feel their disappointment, listen to the conversation of the two disciples in Luke 24:21. "But we trusted that it had been he (Jesus) which should have redeemed Israel!"

However, all disappointments were gone as soon as the reality of the Resurrection of Jesus dawned upon them. Then they knew what Easter proves also to us:

First, Jesus is what He claimed to be, the Son of God and Savior. Second, what Jesus had taught about sin and salvation, about heaven and hell is true. Third, what He promised for the future about death, the resurrection of all the dead, and eternal life with Him for His believers and followers, is certain.

If you agree that these are ample reasons for worshipping and serving Jesus, be sure to do so. Our church invites.

Burlington Station Shows March of Time

The Burlington passenger station on east Main street is bearing evidence of the inroads of time and neglect in the recent years. It was in the past, kept up as a very neat and attractive building, but as service has been gradually curtailed and traffic fallen away, the structure is no longer a very attractive place. Formerly the station had two good sized waiting rooms with the office portion of the building maintained in the center, but now the north waiting room has been denuded of the seats and is being arranged to handle freight and express. The wall at the south end of the building is in a very advanced stage of decay and may have to be removed or replaced. Termites are also adding their part to the destruction of the structure.
A great many years ago the representative of the Journal was asked by the Chamber of Commerce to check each morning, the number of people going to Omaha or other points, and the number of seats that were available. At that time twenty to fifty or larger was the usual haul of passengers. The facts as to the number traveling, the seating capacity of the building, led the Burlington to build an addition on the north that more than doubled the seating facilities and made everybody happy, until war days and the growth of the motor vehicles. At this time a passenger is a real rarity, partially due to the fact that there is no train service to Omaha or Lincoln on this line. The only scheduled train here is No. 6 that arrives in mid-morning headed for the east. The streamliner trains pass through this city at night but are not scheduled to make stops.
