

Jesus' Teaching on the Judgment.
Lesson for May 15: Mark 13:1-2, 28-37.
Memory Selection: Mark 13:33.
The temple, to the square inch, was one of the finest buildings the world has known. It excited the admiration of all who beheld it. But the finer the building, the greater the fall. When one of the disciples exclaimed concerning the temple, Jesus solemnly prophesied its utter destruction.

Using the fig tree as a sign of the returning springtime, Jesus bade the disciples to read in coming events the signs of downfall of Jerusalem. But, though heaven and earth shall pass away, his words shall not pass away.
Two great things seem confused in the lesson—the destruction of Jerusalem and the Second Coming of Christ. Some passages seem to refer to the first; others to the Lord's Second Coming.
Of the fall of the Holy City—that was soon accomplished. It is a matter of history. But two thousand years have passed and we still look for the Lord's coming. As to the signs of his coming—we evidently have not been able to read them. Jesus himself said that we cannot know the time. The only thing that we can know of is its certainty. It must be better that we cannot know the time of the Lord's coming. For because we can know neither the day nor the hour when he shall come, we should be watching all the while. And this is the great lesson for us—we must watch and serve and pray. In the attitude of watchfulness and prayer we shall be ready to meet the Lord at any time.

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, May 15, 1949.

The Golden Text is: "This corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality." I Corinthians 15:53.
Other Bible citations include: "For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit." (Romans 8:5).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. "In Science man is the offspring of Spirit. The beautiful, good and pure constitute his ancestry. His origin is not, like that of mortals, in brute instinct, nor does he pass through material conditions prior to reaching intelligence. Spirit is his primitive and ultimate source of being; God is his Father, and Life is the law of his being." (Page 63).

A hush fell over a group of visitors and a shiver went down their spines when the warden told them that the man in the next cell was sentenced to die.
"Sentenced to die!" Did you ever stop to think that those words could just as well be tacked on the front door of your home? There isn't a person in your family who isn't sentenced to die.
The Bible says: "It is appointed unto men once to die, and after this the Judgment." "We must all appear before the Judgment seat of Christ."
You may have many things to do today, but none of them is more important than getting right with God.

Tent caterpillars which overwinter in the egg stage on small tree branches can be controlled by cutting off and burning or destroying the twigs with the egg masses. Once they hatch into worms, sprays of lead arsenate or DDT should be used.

INSTEAD of discarding your worn curtains, use several layers of the material for pot holder filler. If you prefer, six layers of the curtain material may be sewed together and used as dishcloths.
If your glassware has chipped slightly on the drinking edge, smooth it off with an emery board or some rough sandpaper.
Old shower curtains can be cut down and used on small kitchen or pantry windows.
Before washing scrim curtains, fold each curtain down the center and baste the edges together. This keeps curtain edges straight and helps prevent strain. Remove basting after ironing.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Fish Fillets (Serves 6)
1 pound boned fish fillets
1 cup cooked, chopped spinach
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1/2 cup minced green onions
3 tomatoes
3 tablespoons butter
Place the fillets on a buttered baking platter. Mix spinach, parsley and onion together with salt and pepper to taste, and place on top of fillets. Surround with 1/2-inch slices of tomato. Sprinkle fish and tomatoes with bread crumbs, dot with butter and bake for 20 minutes in a hot (400° F.) oven.

Add one to two tablespoons of glycerine to the water in which you rinse sweaters to remove "scratchiness" from them.
If lace edgings on linens are dipped into a little sugar and water after rinsing, they will have a lovely crisp finish.
Dressing table tops are easily protected from wear if you cover them neatly with transparent plastic.
Always shake out Turkish towel and washcloths after they have been put through the wringer so crease lines will not show. Shaking also gives them a fluffy finish.
If you fold clothes to be ironed instead of crumpling or rolling, there will be fewer wrinkles to iron out.
Clothes sprinklers also have another use! They may be used to water delicate plants, and are helpful in not getting too much water on them as well as distributing it more evenly.

William the Conqueror was so called, not because he defeated Harold, the English king, at Hastings in 1066, but because of his suppressions of the national revolt during the first years of his reign.
