May Crowning Attended By 400 at Holy Rosary

Over four hundred people attended the annual May Crowning ceremony at Holy Rosary church a week ago. The ceremony began when thirty-five altar boys dressed in white, red and black cassocks and white surplices and twenty-four flower girls in white formals with varied sashes in pastel colors, entered the church. The Holy Rosary choir, under the direction of Mr. Don Cotner sang the professional hymn. Mrs. Vincent Piny was at the organ console.
 Father John Kelly led the rosary from the microphone before the main altar, while the entire congregation filed out of church to the outdoor shrine on the Holy Rosary church grounds. The lighted tapers carried by the people in the outdoor procession made a very inspiring sight.
 The statue of Our Lady of Victory was flanked on either side with a sea of peonies. At regular intervals was a giant candle stick to which was attached a large votive candle and a bouquet. The large blanket type floral design had a large monogram of the letter "M" in white peonies outlined with pale pink peonies. The field for this monogram was made with red peonies. This design was created by Ramon Koubek and Kenneth Melsinger. The decoration committee was composed of Mrs. Grace Melsinger, Josephine Waga, Josephine Rys, Charlotte Pelsinger, Joan Hula, Dorothy Placek, Antonia Vaneek and Mrs. Vincent Piny. The entire outdoor shrine was illuminated by a battery of flood lights.
 Catherine Svoboda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Svoboda, was the crown bearer. She was attended by Joan Hula and Patricia Janda. David Hohman and John Brink were her pages who carried her train.
 Patricia Janda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Janda, placed a floral crown made from tiny rose buds, upon the head of the statue of the Blessed Mother. Father Robert Gaydos, a Redemptorist from Holy Name of Omaha, spoke on the origin, meaning and symbolism of the May Crowning ceremony.
 Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was interrupted for a congregational consecration to our Blessed Lady. Taps were sounded to call to prayer those assembled for the fallen heroes.

 The White Flower shop designed the floral crown and the colonial bouquets for the flower girls.
 Plattsmouth "Spinnit Days" start Wednesday, June 15. 11
