Cat Goes for Tomatoes
BUENA PARK, Cal. (U.P.)—C. W. Morgan's cat, Mabel, likes tomatoes and if the Morgan family is going to enjoy tomatoes from the garden, Morgan has to watch Mabel more closely than his bank account. Morgan picks them green by the light of the moon before Mabel can get to them and stows them away to ripen for the table.

FRIENDLY THOUGHTS

We stand awed by the works of nature. We are in the presence of an immensity that makes material, selfish gain seem paltry. And in like proportion it makes us feel the transcending value of glory... unselfishness... sympathy.

There is no more powerful force at work in a community than Public Belief. It directs the choice of nearly everyone when the necessity for sympathetic service arrives.
