

City Votes to Aid Band of City School

The claim of George Forbes for services was held up while the committee and the city attorney check over the claim as to wages and compensation for Mr. Forbes and have them separated.

The report of Judge C. L. Graves for the past three weeks was received, showing that for the week of August 28th there had been three arrests and fines and costs of $27.50 collected; for the week of September 4th, two arrests and fines and costs of $20; for the week of September 11, two arrests and fines and costs of $25.50.

Chairman Arn of the street, alleys and bridges committee, reporting, stated that Elmer Gochenour had been selected as the new street foreman, and started on the job Monday morning. Mr. Arn stated that the committee felt that he was a good man for the job, could operate the city road maintenance and supervise the other work of the department. He had been hired for $225 a month and after an opportunity to show his capability would be eligible for a raise. The streets, alleys and bridges committee would have supervision of the department, as in the past, but the work of planning and carrying out would be for the foreman.

Elmer Gochenour stated that he understood the responsibilities of the job and would do his very best to give the city a good handling of the office and the conduct of the work. He was new on the job but felt that he would be able to get the work in hand. He expected to attend the council meetings and have reports for the entire council.

Councilman Woster stated that Mr. Gochenour had the authority to manage the department, that he should be able to operate the road maintainer and see that it was kept in proper shape as it was a large investment made by the city. He urged that the operation of the street force be kept at a high efficiency and secure for the city a full return of the money expended.

City Attorney Harold Lebens reported that he had no replies from the company that sought to establish waste paper containers on the streets in return for advertising concessions.

A communication was received from the Henningsen Engineering company of Omaha, giving the amount due them on the paving contract and work in district No. 99. This amount was $2,292.52 and on motion the same was ordered paid.

The finance committee of the council presented a resolution to pay to the city schools the sum of $750 from the amusement fund for the use of the high school band. This was approved by a unanimous vote.

The finance committee presented a resolution setting out that the city had on hand $14,950 in the bond and interest fund, that payments from the fund would not be due until May, that the sum of $6,000 be transferred to the road fund to pay for the new city road main-tainer, purchased for $5,960 and save interest costs on warrants. The money so secured, to be repaid to the bond and interest fund each month as the taxes are received until the amount transferred has been repaid to the city treasury. The resolution was passed unanimously.
