

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER
Jonah Learns God's Missionary Purpose.
Lesson for June 25: Jonah 3: 3-6; 4: 1-11.
Memory Selection: Jonah 2:9.

THE JOKES about Jonah and the whale have often caused the book that bears his name to be treated with unfortunate levity so that the missionary teaching of the story is overlooked. Let the book be dealt with in a seriousness that it justly deserves.

Jonah took ship with the evident intention to put the length of the Mediterranean between him and God. After the great storm and the casting of lots, Jonah was thrown into the sea. Swallowed by a "great fish" and then cast upon the land, Jonah set out for Nineveh. As soon as he reached the environs of the city he began to preach the wrath of God upon the inhabitants.

The people repented and God decided to spare the city. Jonah went out on the east side of the city and wanted to see what would become of the place. The hot sun beat down upon the prophet's head, and God made a gourd to grow up over his head. But the next day the Lord sent a worm to bite the gourd and it withered and died. And Jonah wished for death and he said: "It is better for me to die than to live."

Then the Lord declared that as Jonah had had pity for the gourd, so he, the Father of all, had had pity upon the thousands in the city who had never had a chance to find God. The book of Jonah should rebuke Christians who have small sympathy for men without God.

"Christian Science" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, June 25, 1950.

The Golden Text is: "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace; that bringeth good tidings of good, that publisheth salvation." (Isaiah 52:7) Other Bible citations include: "Ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should shew forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light." (1 Peter 2:9)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Every day makes its demands upon us for higher proofs rather than professions of Christian power. These proofs consist solely in the destruction of sin, sickness, and death by the power of Spirit, as Jesus destroyed them. This is an element of progress, and progress is the law of God, whose law demands of us only what we can certainly fulfill." (Page 233).

Light Carried On GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—A flame taken from the torch of the Statue of Liberty and transported here was used by Boy Scouts of Troop 8 to light a lamp fire at their re-dedication ceremonies.

If just a few drops of lemon are needed for a recipe, don't cut the lemon in half, advises Successful Farmer magazine. Stick a fork in one end and squeeze out the juice required. This keeps the lemon from drying out.

Cass County Extension Notes
The popularity of spinach as a "green vegetable" is shown by the fact that it is sold at local markets (either fresh or fresh frozen) all year 'round. Locally grown spinach is available in late fall and early spring, but spinach eating is not limited to those seasons.

More is eaten, however, when it is in-season and appears in the market in good condition.

Spinach is a native to Iran (Persia) and adjacent areas and was in common use long before the Christian Era. It was not known outside this area until much later. Records indicate that spinach reached China about 647 A.D., but it was probably not known in England until the 14th Century.

Spinach is an excellent source of Vitamin A, a very good source of riboflavin, a good source of Vitamin C, and a fair source of thiamine. The calcium in spinach is not available because of the oxalic acid present in the spinach leaves, nor is all the iron in available form. But, don't let these facts keep you from eating and enjoying spinach.

Spinach and the other dark green, leafy vegetables are among our very best sources of Vitamin A, and that is a food factor many of us need in larger amounts than we are now getting.

Why do we need vitamin A?
Children must have Vitamin A to grow normally. Both children and adults need Vitamin A to keep their eyes, skin, glands and body lining healthy.

Can you see well in dim light? People who get too little vitamin A cannot. Their eyes cannot adjust quickly from bright to dim light. True night blindness is one of the better known signs that a person is not getting enough Vitamin A in your meals. Eat several Vitamin A rich foods every day, including at least one dark green, leafy vegetable, or a yellow vegetable.

Practice 4-H Demonstration Day, June 28: 4-H club leaders and members are invited to the annual practice demonstration day Wednesday, June 28. The meeting will be held in Weeping Water, in the Agricultural Auditorium, starting at 1:00 a.m.

A movie on steps in building a demonstration will be shown and all teams will be given an opportunity to practice their demonstration and get help and pointers on improvement. Miss Katherine Kirwan, Assistant State 4-H club leader will be on hand to assist County Extension Agent, Clarence Schmadeke and 4-H leaders with the program.

Corn Borer Surveys to be made: As soon as the Corn Borer moth emerges and starts laying its eggs, surveys will be made in all precincts in Cass County, to determine the degree of infestation of the pest in Cass County Corn fields.

Schmadeke announced that he will complete arrangements for a local cooperator in each area to make three counts and assist with this project as soon as possible.

This is a project which should be of vital interest to every corn grower in the County.

Intelligence Helps
CHICAGO (UP)—A company's more intelligent employees may shy away from dangerous work and hence have fewer accidents, Prof. Willard A. Kerr of the Illinois Institute of Technology says. Kerr bases the opinion on figures which show accident rates to be higher in departments where employees respond poorly to suggestion boxes, which, he said, may indicate a lower level of intelligence.

Why of Allergies
CHICAGO (UP)—Allergies are caused by the same body defense mechanism which battles microbes, Dr. Frank A. Simon, Louisville, Ky., writes in the Journal of the American Medical Association. But, some persons' defenses are over-zealous and become misdirected against usually harmless substances, such as food or pollen, he said.

The acreage planted to wheat this year in the United States will be by far the largest on record.
