

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER
Samuel, the Upright Judge
Lesson for July 23: 1 Samuel 7: 3-6, 15-16; 12: 1-5
Memory Selection: 1 Samuel 3: 19
Samuel was one of the great characters of early Israel and there was a potent reason for it in infancy he was dedicated unto God, and his pious mother's act had much to do with his great career. His early life should be familiar to the reader.

The first of the lesson text shows Samuel as the strong leader of Israel. After the ark's return from Philistia, Samuel gathered his people to an assembly at Mizpah, and led them to repentance and new consecration to God. The Philistine regarded the occasion as a mobilization and they came up with a great army upon the Israelites. And they were terribly defeated.

Living at Ramah, Samuel held court there and at other places. He was an early "circuit judge." At length, after Saul had become the first king and Samuel had grown old, he brought the people together and asked them for a kind of vote of confidence, not that he might remain in leadership among them, but that he might depart in peace. Conscious that he had walked in integrity before God, the old man also desired the approval of his people, and they gave it with one voice. Thus, approved by God and men, Samuel came to the end of his pilgrimage, and left an example of his righteous service. Let the upright judge be an example unto all who hold high office, and to all others as well, influencing them to be true and sincere in all their dealings.

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, July 23, 1950.

The Golden Text is: "God shall send forth his mercy and his truth." (Psalms 57:3) Other Bible citations include, "Give ear, O ye heavens, and I will speak; and hear, O earth, the words of my mouth. My doctrine shall drop as the rain, my speech shall distill as the dew, as the small rain upon the tender herb, and as the showers upon the grass: Because I will publish the name of the Lord: ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the Rock his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgement: a God of truth and without iniquity just and right is he." (Deuteronomy 32:1-4)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Life, Truth and Love are the realities of divine Science." They dawn in faith and glow full-orbed in spiritual understanding—What is termed material sense can report only a mortal temporary sense of things, whereas spiritual sense can bear witness only to Truth."
