CARD OF THANKS
members and friends, Pastor Lentz and family wish to take this means to express Thanks and Appreciation to all the members and friends of Christ Lutheran Church on the occasion of his 25th Anniversary Service in Christ Church and this community, on Sunday evening, September 10, 1950. The Honors, the Basket Dinner, the services in the Church and the informal Reception in the church parlors, the gifts, the kindness, thoughtfulness, planning and preparation that went into the celebration have all impressed us deeply. We believe that friends can not bestow such honor upon us, without having some of that honor reflect back upon them, any more than some can sprinkle perfume upon another and not have some of its fragrance cling to the giver. Thank you and God bless you. 83-1tc The Lentz family

Then a day or two later word came—yes, the car had been located. Where? Well, right where they had parked it—only they had forgotten where they had left it parked, and after all the other cars had gone, this lone car was easy to find. Better luck next time, boys.

No Time for Hysteria
Rationing and price controls are not needed at the present time; and would in likelihood create trouble at home and abroad through invitation to black market activity and increased expense of government through addition of personnel for administration.
What is needed is immediate action to put into practice economic measures in government in departments other than those associated with the military preparation of the nation. Increased taxation and credit controls will also serve to curb the tendency to spend wastefully. Stepped up production would control inflation at its source by making available more goods for civilian and military needs, counteracting the fear of scarcity and the need for rationing and price controls.
A pay-as-you-go policy is important in prosecution of the current Korean emergency, to avoid adding appreciably to the national debt. The Korean operation is not an all-out war effort and Congress has not declared war. The president has not indicated that it is an all-out war. To treat our economy at this time as if we are prosecuting an all-out war is a threat to our ability to win the real war should it prove unavoidable. If an all-out effort is needed now, what can we expect if the Korean conflict spreads to other theaters?
Price controls and rationing might be a part of our war effort at a time when 40 to 50 per cent of our entire industrial output goes directly to the prosecution of a war effort, but they do not appear appropriate at this time.
Price controls and rationing at best only suppress the symptoms of inflation; and encourage black marketeering while depriving the citizens of necessary goods and services.
This is no time for hysteria.
Taxation is the primary method by which, in addition to bank loans and consumer credit restrictions, the money supply can be prevented from outstripping the supply of goods so that inflation becomes inevitable.
Already it is proposed that 14 billion dollars more be spent during the fiscal year 1951 than is being spent now. This increased expenditure is anticipated to pay the cost of the Korean conflict. We already have a government deficit. If the added 14 billion dollars is poured into the markets without adequate taxation to meet the added cost, we can expect inflation no matter what controls are given the president.
The following factors are needed to control inflation:
1. Reduction of non-essential government expenditures. 2. A pay-as-you-go program which makes certain that any borrowing done by the government is from non-bank sources. 3. Making certain that we have sufficient installment, housing, and other credit curbs. 4. Restraint of commercial bank credit expansion in those fields which do not contribute to increases in the supply of goods necessary for carrying out mobilization.
To keep the American economy healthy and sound, Americans are going to have to make up their minds that we "cannot have our cake and eat it too." Some taxpayers are going to be fooled into believing that somebody else is going to pay for the cost of mobilization, failing to realize that the cost has to come from all of the people in the form of taxes. Purchasing power can be controlled by taxation; and all Americans must share in the cost.
The boys on the firing line in Korea are paying more than their share in "blood, sweat and tears." We at home need to get the philosophy that our share of the cost will be increased taxes to the extent that is necessary to finance the Korean conflict and mobilize defenses for the bigger war that may be ahead.
Mrs. Theodore Davis was a dinner guest of Mrs. Fred Neumeister Sunday. In the late afternoon Mrs. Neumeister's son and daughter and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Neumeister and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Schomaker, came to spend some time with her. Mrs. Neumeister left Tuesday to attend the meeting of the Four Corners Club which met at the home of Mrs. John Baier. On Wednesday she went to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Neumeister until the following Saturday.

Funeral of Joe D. Schwinn In Seattle
Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Schwinn, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Schwinn and Mr. and Mrs. Norris Schwinn of Elmwood returned late Tuesday evening from Seattle where they had attended the funeral services held for Joe D. Schwinn, who died Saturday after a long illness. The rites were conducted at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning in Columbia funeral home with burial in the Washington Memorial cemetery. Rev. McClurg, pastor of the Skyway Methodist church, of which Mr. Schwinn had been a member, was in charge.
Joe D. Schwinn was born 41 years ago in Murdock, Neb. His family moved to Ogallala, Neb., when he was seven and it was here he completed his grade and high school education. He attended the University of Nebraska at Lincoln for one year and moved to Sandpoint with his parents in 1924.
His mother is the former Gertrude Evedale, well known in Cass county.
In 1936 he was united in marriage to Ann C. Lee at Missoula, Mont. They have three sons, Joseph, now 13; David, who is six, and Robert, three years old.
In 1937 the family spent a year in San Bernardino, Calif., for the health of their eldest son. After Mr. Schwinn became associated with the Boeing Aircraft Company the family moved to Seattle in 1938 where they made their home at 11611 74th Ave., south.
He was employed by Boeing Company until his failing health caused him to resign. He was given a two year leave of absence beginning in 1945. The family returned to Sandpoint, Idaho, residing on Lakeshore Drive.
Mr. Schwinn was a member of the Seattle professional engineering employees association. He represented both Boeing and Lockheed companies in Ireland, Labrador and India during World War II.
Besides his wife, Ann C., and sons at the family home, Mr. Schwinn is also survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Schwinn of this city; two brothers, Floyd and Norris, also of Sandpoint, and two sisters, Mrs. Sara Hart, Moscow, and Mrs. Leona Saunders of Concord, Calif. Mrs. Dennis Lee of Hamilton, Mont., mother-in-law of Mr. Schwinn, stayed with the family after his condition became critical.
