

Feeder Cattle
In State Up

The state-federal division of agricultural statistics estimated the number of cattle on feed in Nebraska on Oct. 1 at 250,000. This was 25,000 or 11 per cent more than a year ago, but 30,000 less than the number on feed

July 1 this year. Shipments of stocker and feeder cattle into Nebraska from July to September were down about 16 percent from the corresponding period last year, following a 46 per cent increase in the April-June quarter. The bureau said feed supplies are plentiful in Nebraska this year.

There will be some soft corn in scattered areas which can be best utilized by prompt feeding, the department pointed out. In other instances, feeders were reported in a position to carry cattle on rough feed while watching the market reaction to the international situation and the possibility of government price controls.

"Feedlots presently contain a smaller proportion of heavier cattle than on July 1, but more than a year ago, the report said. The majority of cattle on feed Oct. 1 had been on feed less than three months. Present marketing intentions of feeders indicated cattle on feed Oct. 1 will be marketed earlier than last year.

There was a great deal of excitement when calling news as all wanted to know where the fires were. First I heard that Martin Stenberg's barn was struck by lightning and Mrs. Stenberg discovered it and an alarm was sent to the Ashland Fire Department. This was soon extinguished with a few holes in barn roof and loss of a few bales of hay. Later found that the other fire was at the August Kupke farm northeast of Murdoch, where the large barn, machinery and some calves also was struck by lightning. The smoke and flames were seen for a great distance causing many to wonder where it was so drove to discover a very destructive fire also caused by lightning. We had a severe electrical storm Monday noon.
