What Chance Does A Fellow Have These Days?

Actually, Sonny, your chances are far better today than they were even a few years ago. Tremendous developments in the field of medical science improve your chances of growing to healthy manhood—valuable improvements in our school system offer you the very best education.

Sure, we know a fellow like you must look farther ahead than that—that you must have an opportunity to establish yourself as a substantial income-producing citizen. But, here, too, your chances are better. Look about you, Sonny, Nebraska has many advantages.

Whether your life's career takes you to the city, village or farm, modern electricity is helping to create new and better opportunities for you.

Consumers Public Power District, a self-supporting Nebraska institution—created to bring the benefits of the state's power resources to Nebraskans—makes available essential electric power for communities, large and small, to progress and prosper.

Yes, Sonny, while helping to increase industrial expansion, agricultural development and economic improvement, Consumers Public Power District is helping your Mom and Dad to make a better life for you today and in the future.
