Plattsmouth Journal
 Dear Editor:

The people of Cass County and Nebraska are demanding better roads. The 1949 Road Program was the direct result from this overwhelming public demand. The last legislature passed the two revenue laws enabling the County, State and Federal government to join in a well balanced road building program. That progress has been made in Cass County cannot be denied even by our severest critics. The facts that the three main roads leading into Plattsmouth from the west were unserviceable when I took office in 1949, certainly proved the fact that it costs more to use poor roads than to build good ones.

After listening to the many pleas and petitions at our Board Meetings by farmers from all parts of the county wanting more miles of road added to the State system it is most bewildering to know that farm organizations are attempting to jeopardize the only workable road program this state has ever known.

To insert half-truths, misrepresentations and confusion into this fight is most regrettable, especially when the so-called local farm Bureau leaders are being duped by higher ups, who in turn are employed by the commercial truckers and petroleum marketers to protect their own special interests.

Mr. Marshall has filed a report in the County Clerk's office, showing $2885.00 contributed to defeat the road improvement program and this alone shows who his real master and employer is.

Mr. Marshall also stated at a public hearing with the County Board, that he did not feel that the revenue laws in question were excessive, but only objected to the distribution of the funds;—a very minor point indeed,—why should any fair-minded person oppose a tax that is based upon use? Those who use our highways most will pay in proportion. Or would the Farm Bureau leaders favor that the needed revenue come from a special assessment?

The issue to be determined on election day is, are we going forward with the present road building program or take a big step backward. A "No" vote means no new taxes, and permit the 1949 road program to prove itself.

The result of the votes on the two referendum petitions will indicate a vote of confidence or disapproval of, in what we are doing in the way of road improvement in the 1st district, and will be a guide to follow in the next two years of my term, as County Commissioner.

 Plattsmouth Journal:

I would like to have made out what was on the 5 and 6 pages of The Journal, but as you can see it would be hard to do. Your Louisville items are rather slow too. Is this because of the reporter or do you put them aside for other towns?

You sure put in a great write-up for Ash Grove in your item on the paving here. How much do you think they pay out on the paving? They may have pushed it through, but for what reason? To sell the cement and if one wanted to build and needed cement he could jump in the lake.

Ash Grove and the Village Board think nothing of the hardship they bring on some people, but everything is for the car owners around here and nothing for a pedestrian. Bushes, trees and weeds grow over the sidewalk, cars park on the sidewalk.

Clarence Nessen was an Omaha visitor Friday.

Mrs. Mary Group, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Sprick and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Salberg drove to Schuyler Sunday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Busche and Mrs. Elizabeth Busche. Mrs. Elizabeth Busche had been in a Columbus hospital for a check up, but was home and feeling much better.

E. A. and Paul Ingram, Frank W. Nichols, W.L. Blair and Otto Heil went to Alliance last week end to do some duck hunting. They got plenty of ducks.

Ed Group suffered a fractured ankle Tuesday when he fell while trimming trees at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Schneider attended the funeral of Grover Otte at Weeping Water Monday.

Mrs. Otto Sprick called at the Elmer Sprick home Monday.

Mrs. John Ritter and Francis returned home Sunday from Wyoming where they were deer hunting and brought home a nice buck.

 Mr. Ronald R. Furse
 Plattsmouth Journal
 Plattsmouth, Nebraska

Dear Mr. Furse: I want you and the people of Plattsmouth to know how much we appreciated having your band with us last Saturday. It was a great day all around and your band helped make it so.

You will agree I'm sure, that the annual University of Nebraska Band Day has earned a permanent place as a traditional Cornhusker event. More than that, it's a real experience for the young people.

Here at the University, we are aware of the hard work that you and your staff do to enable your band to take part. We appreciate it. We believe the whole state appreciates it.

Your University of Nebraska would like to thank all of you—the boys and girls in the band, school officials, parents and civic-minded citizens—for your help in making possible a spectacle which thrilled us all. I hope you will convey our sincere thanks to your community.

Sincerely yours,
 R. G. Gustavson.

 Dear friends at the Journal Office:

Well, guess my time is out for the Journal and I would miss the paper a lot although I have been gone three and one-half years. It seems there are lots of strange names now, but anyway will subscribe for another year. This is Mrs. H. E. Fidler but used to be I remain as ever, a friend,

Tuesday Balloting Expected to Bring Out Record Vote

(Continued from Page 1) of Omaha. Issues are clear and distinct in this one and is expected to be close. It will take the final tabulation to divulge the outcome.

There has been considerable activity in two county contests, namely for county attorney and county clerk. All four candidates for these offices, Richard C. Peck and Paul E. Fauquet, for county attorney, and George E. Sayles, incumbent, and W. J. Bryan McDonald for county clerk, have conducted their campaigns for office on an extremely high and honorable plane. These contests are expected to be very close. All the candidates involved have outstanding ability and are held in high esteem throughout the county. Of these two—it's anybody's guess.

Regardless of the way you vote—Democrat or Republican—go to the polls Tuesday. Exercise your constitutional right and cast your ballot.

American Educational Week Here

Special programs are being set up in cooperation with the American Legion and Auxiliary for observances of Armistice Day which will be on Friday, November 10th at 11 o'clock. Details of the plans are being formulated and will be published on Monday.

Prodigal With Water
 NEW YORK (U.P.)—This city uses about 1,127,000,000 gallons of water daily but it wastes about 200,000,000 of it through leaky faucets and similar conditions. Water Commissioner John M. Cannela said the wastage alone would be enough to take care of the daily water supply of eight cities the size of Newark, N. J.
