Gunshot Wound Fatal To Local Youth Tuesday

Lester had made Plattsmouth his home during his short period of life. He attended the Plattsmouth public schools, but had dropped his studies there this year. During the past few months he had been employed at the Norfolk Packing Co., and for the State Highway Department.

An only son, besides his parents, he is survived by six sisters, Mrs. Ruth Loper, Omaha, Valeria Ann, Harriet Dorothy, Irene Helen, Viola May and Carol Jeanette.

The body will be taken to the family residence on Thursday evening and lie in state until noon Friday.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Caldwell Funeral Home in Plattsmouth on Friday, December 22, 1950, with Rev. H. G. McClusky in charge. Caldwell Funeral Home has charge of arrangements.

Interment will be made in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Heavy Christmas Mailing Floods Local Post Office

Carriers James Holy, Carl Hala and Edward Brink have been forced to make their city routes from stock piles of mail at strategic corners in order to deliver the heavy influx of letters, cards and packages. Custodians Howard Dadds and John Siskoria have done yeoman duty, too, in keeping lobbies clear of Christmas wrappings, lost articles, and other duties besides giving a hand with mail bags.

Rural carriers Theodore Plak and Glen Sawin have had their problems, too, with cars and jeeps piled high both going and coming from the rural areas. Frank Bieri has been giving them an extra hand on their deliveries.

Other extra help during the Christmas rush include Leslie Niel, Jr., Kenneth Tiekotter and Lars Larson have been assisting on the floor, while Mrs. Beverly Hirtz has been lending a hand in the office.

Louie Keil, who transports mail to and from trains could use a semi-trailer to move the mountains of bags that accumulate at the delivery door every few hours, but by making extra trips at least keeps the aisles clear.

Expectations are that this year's business at the post office will equal or surpass any past similar period for Plattsmouth.

New South Ashland Reporter In January

Mrs. Ivan E. Armstrong, Route 1, Ashland, will cover the news for The Journal starting in January for that community. Mrs. John Remmenga, who has done a most capable job in this position for several years will give up the reporting as she, with her husband and family, are moving about the first of the year to a new location.

Mrs. Armstrong will appreciate your reporting to her after the first of the year happens of interest to readers in that area and Cass County as did Mrs. Remmenga, who will continue as correspondent until that time.

PLANNED THAT WAY — BROCKTON, Mass. (UP) — Hjalmer S. Sellstrom will tear down a wall in his house to get out a 21-foot cabin cruiser and his son are building in the cellar. It was planned that way, Sellstrom explained, because he intends to replace the wall with garage doors so the basement can be used as a boat house.

HUSBAND'S ASHES SPARED — CHICAGO (UP) — After the death of her husband, Mrs. Frieda Larson, 48, came to Chicago to live. Her first day here ended with the theft of all her personal possessions, valued at $2,000, except the ashes of her husband.

The largest strictly rural hospital in the United States is Grace Hospital at Banner Elk, N. C.
