CIZE ALONE NOT WISE GOAL

Cities and towns, all over the United States, compete in a feverish race for size and the goal of every community, it seems, is to persuade industry to settle within its gates.

Civic organizations give most of their thought to the concoction of "dope," which they hope will persuade somebody to come in and build up their municipality for them. Much effort along this line is inevitably wasted.

It may be a startling idea, but we wonder if the people of any sizeable city can answer-Can a Chinaman understand ever have tried giving their time and attention to the development of the best place in the world for a family to live in? Frankly, we realize that no one will take up this idea and that the "people" will continue to pursue dreams of a greater Plattsmouth with its sky black from the smoke of industry and the streets packed with the families of workers. Thus, they reason, will prosperity and plenty arrive for all.

the first requisite for another depression is a period of inflation. Consequently, responsible economic experts, in and out of the government, are agreed that steps should be taken to prevent advancing prices which will culminate in a wild orgy of buying.

With the increased tempo of defense spending, the people of the United States will have more money to spend. It is also certain that, as industrial plants turn from normal production into the production of defense materials, the shortage of goods may become pronounced.

THE WEEK may be one of the top policy-making echelon of the most eventful in recent years, controls agencies. And the folks for some mighty angry labor lead- who know best here say that Mr. ers, who know the facts of life, Wilson - has blundered, perhaps and some equally resentful farm not fatally, but badly, in not conleaders are up in arms over the sidering these two great masses, way the nation's top business lead- farmers and workers, in naming ers are running the defense mobil- the top officials to have charge of Labor leaders were so mad before they called on President Truman to discuss their grievances with him that some of the more hot-headed were even advocating a general strike. They don't believe that a dent has been made in stopping the cost of living up-swing; they have continually asked for representation on policy making controls committees and have been rebuffed. The representatives of these 40,000,000 working folk are mad clear through. And, peculiarly enough, it was not especially over the 10 percent wage boost granted by the Wage Stabilization board. While they were not satisfied with the 10 percent hike in that they declare it does not reflect their living costs, they might be inclined to accept the board order, other things being equal. But Charles E. Wilson, the top defense mobilizer, according to labor chieftains, has given the bit to business leaders and they are running the controls picture without labor having a say-so in the running.

They want a top man in Wilson's office. They just gained a top man in Eric Johnston's office in the person of George Harrison, from the railway mail clerks union. They want a man in Defense Production Administrator Harrison's office too, and they want the control of manpower placed ization and the fight against infla-tion. Labor, however, has some of its own membership to blame for the pickle they are in. The un-calledfor wildcat switchmen's railway strike came along about the time some of the choice posts were being handed out, and labor leaders here couldn't or didn't do anything to halt the strike. In Chicago, the switchmen were fined $25,000 and they got another $75,000 fine here in Washington when they pleaded guilty to contempt of court for flaunting a federal court injunction.

Whether labor's policy to withdraw the labor members from the Wage Stabilization Board means a break with President Truman remains to be seen. Likely, the differences will be patched up, for labor has no place else to turn, despite the offers of the hand of fellowship made by Senator Taft and other GOP leaders.

Farmers say they are in favor of labor getting its wage hike, but well they might, for parity continues to be sacrosanct, although it works like an escalator clause in a labor contract, tied to the cost of living. For when prices go up, so does parity and vice versa. So if farm prices are tied to the parity figure they can't hurt too much, although some are so far beyond partity now it is pitiful, particularly cotton and beef. But the law can be changed, and this is what the farmers are fearful

Given more money and fewer goods. it is certain that prices will go up as prospective buyers bid against each other for decreasing supplies. This will be the case in any free economy. Consequently, the Government is almost compelled to take steps to limit the buying power of the public.

As we understand it, and we admit that we do not know too much about it. this can be done in several ways. One is to set a price upon goods and commodities. Another is to provide heavy taxation in order to drain off excess purchasing power. This end can also be accomplished if the people of the country invest in Government bonds for defense financing.

We hope the people of the United States will be smart enough to encourage the Government to take whatever steps are necessary to prevent a repetition of the inflationary orgy which developed in the United States after the first World War. The remedy may seem to be harsh now but it will be easy if it enables the nation to avoid a disastrous depression after the defense effort is unnecessary.

* * * CORECASTS USUALLY RIGHT

Official weather forecasts, believe it or not, are right most of the time.

A survey, made some years ago, reveals that the weather reports are correct eighty-five to ninety times out of a hundred and that the ratio is improving with the development of improved methods.

It is human nature for people to recall the day which was rainy, although the weather forecast was for "fair" weather, and to forget the numerous occasions when the forecaster called the turn correctly.
