In Memoriam

IN MEMORY OF MOTHER
My devoted and faithful wife is gone!
Since then I'm alone and disheartened
And the light has gone out of my life.

As I journey along life's stage
With a hope of a lighter and brighter day—
And my heart for relief vainly seeks
The comfort and cheer of old age.

I wander alone here to die,
For the days of my youth have gone by.
Oh, this world is lonely and dreary;
See the tears as they course down my cheeks.

Two boys to manhood have grown,
And my daughter,
God knows how they love their dear mother,
But that don't make a home for me.

They are surrounded by home ties affection
And why should they bother with me?
I'm not pleading for mercy—
But longing for mother to see.
