

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER
The United Kingdom
II Samuel 5: 1-5; 8:15; I Corinthians 22: 17-19
Memory Selection: Psalms 27:14

THE DAY'S LESSON is one of history, with the opportunity of drawing useful truth. The first thing to be learned is that the United Kingdom was of brief duration, having only two kings—David and Solomon. This was due to the folly of one man, Rehoboam, the son of Solomon.

Consider David's attitude toward God. While his personal life was often at variance to God's will, the purpose of David as a ruler was to honor God in the kingdom and bring his people to sincere veneration of the Lord.

The democratic processes in Israel, so early in human history, are examples unto rulers and people today. The people entered into a covenant with David. He became an ancient constitutional monarch, trying to rule for the good of his people. The record states, "David executed justice and righteousness unto all his people."

Toward the end of his reign the aged king, preparing for Solomon as his successor, urged the people to support Solomon in building a temple unto God. David is an example unto all who govern today and his history should be instructive to the people of any nation, inspiring them to high ideals of government, the wise choice of rulers, and the highest loyalty to exalted standards of citizenship.

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, May 20, 1951.

The Golden Text is: "That which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit." (John 3:6) Other Bible citations include: "I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be for ever; nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it; and God doeth it, that men should fear before him. That which hath been is now; and that which is to be hath already been; and God requireth that which is past." (Ecclesiastes 3:14, 15)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, "For right reasoning, there should be but one fact before the thought, namely, spiritual existence. In reality there is no other existence, since Life cannot be united to its unlikeliness, mortality." (Page 492).
