IT'S AN OLD AMERICAN CUSTOM...

WASHINGTON, TOO, ENJOYED THE THRILL OF THOROUGHBREDS

George Washington was not only a racing fan, but he owned racing horses as well. So did Thomas Jefferson. The two even met in match races and it is said to be the only recorded instance of two men who became Presidents of the nation meeting as rivals on the race course.

Like Washington and Jefferson, many Nebraska folks enjoy horse racing and gather together in the friendly atmosphere of the good Nebraska sunshine for an afternoon of exciting sport.

Racing in Nebraska benefits county and state fairs, live stock shows, poultry shows, 4-H activities, scholarships and fellowships in agriculture, and countless other beneficial projects.

In Nebraska no individual can share in the proceeds, yet everyone shares in the benefits racing provides.

so BIG IN SERVICE so little in cost

Your telephone brings you a bigger value in service now than ever before. Here's why.

- ... Your telephone saves you much time and effort in every day living. It is priceless in emergencies. Yet in the average home its cost is only about half a penny an hour.
- ... You get more value too because there are more telephones in service now—56% more than 10 years ago.
- ... It takes a smaller part of your budget than it used to because its cost hasn't gone up as much as most other things.

Surely, of all things you buy today, your telephone is so BIG in service—so little in cost.
