Many
The average citizen understands little of the mysteries involved in federal aid for highwav construction. For example, three popular misconceptions are: 1) That federal aid funds come from federal gasoline taxes, automobiles, parts, accessories and similar excise taxes.

2) That federal aid funds are "free" money which no one has to provide. 3) That federal aid is limitless and all a state has to do is provide matching funds to secure federal aid. First, federal aid funds do not come from ear-marked gasoline and excise taxes. All federal taxes go into a general fund.

Federal highway aid funds are appropriated from the general fund. Therefore, federal aid has no relationship whatsoever to the amount of federal taxes collected on gasoline and new automobiles and parts. Second, federal aid is not Omaha, Mrs. Joe Ouder and "free" money. Federal aid is States, which is provided for hospital for a major operation and clothing, and all other variety of federal taxes. the general fund of the United States. Third, federal aid for highway building is not limitless. Congress sets a limitation on the federal aid for highway purposes. In 1949, the federal appropriation for highway aid was approximately $450 million. Nebraska's share of that appropriation was approximately $7,500. 000. No matter how much Ne-Ernest Norris, Henry Smith braska sets aside in state funds went to Minesota fishing over for federal matching, the general fund of the United States will make available only the

In addition, 9,958 of secondary roads are designated as part of the federal-aid system. The sec-ondary roads are feeders to the primary system generally. The urban streets are those which carry highways through cities

The federal funds made available for matching with state and local funds are also allocated by thur Mundt, Lincoln.
