

False Gods.
Lesson for Sunday, May 27.

"WHAT HARMONY is there between Christ and Belial... And what agreement has the temple of God with idols?" These words of St. Paul are a challenge to those who follow the false gods of our time. They apply to those who make idols of the so-called intellectuals who have no use for God, and to those whose worship of skill would lead to a world full of trained hands but empty hearts. They are a warning to all who would brush aside every moral scruple to attain worldly success. God has filled the world with good things. The sun, the stars, the rains and the earth and its fruits are a reflection of Himself. But they are not gods. Neither are those gifts of intelligence and beauty with which God has endowed human creatures. Everything that comes from God should be looked upon in terms of reference to the Creator. Only in this way can men enjoy the gifts of God without letting them blot out His image from their lives.

Man's spiritual life has tended to be hampered by fast-developing progress in scientific, economic and social fields. Men and women are surrounded today by distractions and lures unknown to other generations. In this atomic age, especially, great numbers are tempted to forget the great truth of Christian revelation: That God is, and will always be, the Supreme Ruler. False idols may abound everywhere, but in God alone lies man's hope for true and abiding happiness.

Sixth Street and 2nd Ave.
Morning service at 11 o'clock "Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, May 27, 1951.
The Golden Text is: "In the way of thy judgments, O Lord, have we waited for thee; the desire of our soul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee." (Isaiah 26:9). Other Bible citations include, "My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord; my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God. For the Lord God is a sun and shield; the Lord will give grace and glory; no good thing will be withheld from them that walk uprightly." (Psalms 84:2, 11).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, "As a drop of water is one with the ocean, a ray of light one with the sun, even so God and man, Father and son, are one in being." (Page 361).

PROMISE for the future

You see the bright promise of wonderful tomorrows in the young . . . from the colts that roam the blue grass to the boys and girls who will be tomorrow's leaders. There's still plenty of time for them.

But what of your own wonderful tomorrows? Have your plans for family security based on economic independence become a "someday" dream, wistfully recalled by a picture like this?

There's a way you can still assure that independence—a way you can protect your future and your family's future. Your friendly Equitable representative can tell you how. Why not have a talk with him soon?
